GASOLINE CANS ARE SUDDENLY 'IN'

Gasoline cans were well on their way today, in Marin at least, to becoming a scarce item themselves, as shoppers like the unidentified man (left) trudged away from Grand Auto Store in Novato, well-equipped to meet possible weekend gas shortages. Meanwhile, inside the store, saleswoman Laraine Faires (right) said she has sold hundreds of cans in the past few weeks. She said the store cannot get enough to meet the demand. Where those cans are winding up is apparent to anyone with his eyes on the highway, but a rear-end collision for cars and house trailers like this (center) could prove a fiery disaster.

Gas Stations Eye Sunday Closings As Nixon Asked

President Nixon's call for closing gasoline service stations on Sundays as a conservation measure is expected to bring more Sunday closings to Marin.

"I don't expect to see all stations closed, but most will be closed," predicted Jack Dalpino, president of the Marin County Independent Service Station Association.

If the stations don't close down now voluntarily, "they will have to when the law is passed," he said, referring to the mandatory closing law sought by President Nixon.

Dalpino said "quite a few stations" have been closed on Sundays since the gasoline shortage. "We've been telling customers to conserve gasoline because we don't want to see rationing."

Standard Oil Co. reported yesterday it will close 350 company operated gasoline service stations in western states from 9 p.m. Saturday until midnight Sunday.

Where there are dealer-operated stations, Chevron stations, dealers will have the option of closing or not.

Dalpino said Standard Oil Co. has "only two company-operated stations in Marin, excepting car washes."

A spokesman for Phillips 66 said the firm intends to follow the President's request for Sunday closings throughout the nation, except possibly along turnpikes.

A spokesman for Gulf Oil Co. said its stations are 100 per cent dealer operated and the company can't dictate a closing, but would recommend that dealers "go along with the President," and close probably at 9 p.m. Saturday and all day Sunday.

A Shell Oil Co. spokesman said his company has yet to decide its plans for Sundays. However, he said, all but one of the 19 Shell stations in Marin are dealer-operated, and consequently able to set their own hours.

Atlantic-Richfield Co. has only "a handful" of company operated stations, and closing them "wouldn't be significant," a spokesman said.

'Secret Witness' Reward Offer Made In Death Of Bike Rider

Independent-Journal publisher Wishard A. Brown today offered a $2,000 reward through the newspaper's "Secret Witnes" program for information leading to arrest and conviction of the automobile driver who killed cyclist Harmen Evers in San Anselmo last Friday.

The I-J also is offering a $2,000 reward for information leading to arrest and conviction of the slayer of Nina Fischer of San Rafael, who was found dead in her home on Nov. 15.

Evers, 40, an assistant vice president of Bank of America, was killed by a hit-run motorist. He was riding his bicycle on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Isabel Cook School shortly after 8 p.m. when struck. The hit-run auto knocked him from his cycle and dragged him some 200 feet, according to San Anselmo police.

The "Secret Witness" reward was offered at request of San Anselmo Police Raymond R. Buchignani, who said his officers so far have been unable to find a clue to the killer motorist.

Anyone having any information that might lead to discovery of the driver may send it to Secret Witness, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael 94902. The letter should not be signed, but the writer should put a five-digit number in both bottom corners of the page, then tear off and keep one corner.

In the event that the information leads to an arrest and conviction, the reward may be claimed by presenting the torn-off corner with matching number. Identity of the informant need never become known.

The same procedure may be followed by anyone having information that might lead to detection of the killer of Mrs. Fischer, 31-year-old wife of a Swedish business executive, who was shot to death execution-style in the family home at 337 Point San Pedro Road, just outside the San Rafael city limits.

Several "Secret Witness" tips in the Fischer murder already have been received, and the information in them is being followed up by Marin County sheriff's officers, who have jurisdiction in the case. So far, however, they have not led to an arrest, and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos expressed hope that others with some knowledge that might lead to the killer will communicate with "Secret Witness."

Salvation Army Cuts Drop Boxes

The Salvation Army, to conserve fuel, is eliminating the 65 drop boxes for donations it has hitherto maintained in Marin, Southern Sonoma, San Francisco and San Mateo counties.

Major George Duplain, of the organization's San Francisco office, said pickup service will replace the boxes. Donors, he said, should call local offices to arrange pickups weekdays and through noon Saturdays.

Marin County residents may call the Salvation Army Thrift Shop at 910 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. Sonomans may call their local thrift shop at 152 Main Street in Petaluma.

Ford Vote Due Today In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice-presidential nominee Gerald R. Ford says liberal Democrats—at least some of them—could be "dangerous to our way of life."

The 60-year-old House GOP leader made the statement yesterday to the House Judiciary Committee, but quickly added under questioning that most Democrats are as patriotic as he is.

The Senate held what it called a "debate" on Ford's nomination yesterday, but only one member opposed confirmation. A Senate vote was scheduled today.

In the House hearing, Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., asked Ford about a letter sent under his name March 3, 1970, to a businessman in his home state of Michigan, which said "some liberal elements of the Democratic party are dangerous to our way of life."

The letter also criticized Common Cause, a citizens' lobby headed by John W. Gardner, former Democratic secretary of health, education and welfare.

"Do you feel that anyone who labels liberal Democrats as dangerous to our way of life has the stability and balance to be president?" Rep. Holtzman asked.

"Common Cause has an ideological identification with the more liberal elements of the Democratic party. I believe their views could be dangerous to our way of life," Ford replied.

Would he apply that phrase to the "mass of liberal democrats?" Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, asked.

"Using your phrase, the 'mass' of them, not the fringe elements, I would say they are as dedicated to our country as I am," Ford said.

Planners Want To Cutoff Special Life-Style Help

Discussion Centers On W. Marin Commune

The Marin County Planning Commission decided yesterday too many hurdles exist to warrant taking up staff time with an all-out effort to promote "experimental life styles" in Marin.

Instead, the commission agreed the county should give assistance to those seeking less stringent state health and building codes, but not actively pursue code changes itself.

The commission took its informal stand as it reviewed a proposed "position paper" on the Paradise Valley commune near Bolinas.

The position paper, a "second draft" omitting many of the controversial remarks and implications of the first such document written by Planning Director Werner von Gundell, was returned to the planning director for further revision.

Von Gundell had suggested that if it agreed such life styles were worthwhile the commission would seek changes to state and county building health and zoning codes.

Chief building inspector Herbert Wimmer told commissioners different life styles can be achieved under existing building codes, which he said are to "protect the health and safety" of the community.

Any relaxation would require changes in state law, he said, adding he would fight any change that would create "a double standard" in its application.

Owners of four of the six homes at the Paradise Valley commune — a group of nine families — have applied for building permits, he said, adding he could see no problem in bringing the structure up to approved standards if the residents cooperate.

The buildings were built without benefit of county health or building permits and in defiance of county stop-work orders.

However, Wimmer stressed, any deviation from the code would require approval from Sacramento which would have to be requested by the board of supervisors.

While no vote was taken, commissioners seemed to agree with chairman William C. Long that "it's up to the Paradise Valley group to initiate the request for changes."

"Because its application is so limited and the problems so great, I can't justify the county making an all out effort," he told his colleagues.

The county is involved in other problems of broader scope such as providing low-income family housing.

Regulations Set On Heating Oil

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government issued regulations today to ration heating oil in such a way that Americans will be forced to make their homes and businesses cooler this winter.

The regulations are the specifics of what President Nixon announced in general Sunday in a speech to the nation—that the government believes homes should be six degrees cooler and businesses and government offices 10 degrees cooler.

Every customer of heating oil will get a supply reduced by the amount necessary to force the lower thermostat settings.

The regulations, published in the Federal Register, said in a preface that limits on use are necessary to spread the shortages out "equitably throughout the nation."

Publishing in the Federal Register means they are available for comment but will not go into effect until Congress passes his emergency legislation, expected in mid-December.

The shortages include a long expected gap between demand and supply, plus the effects of Arab nations cutting oil exports to the United States and other countries that supported Israel during the recent Mideast war.

Priority purchasers of heating oil and the rest of the "middle distillate" oil products include homes, essential public services, farming, certain transportation, and fuel production. What is left after supplying the products to priority customers will be allocated to nonpriority use.

Each "end-user" of the middle distillates would have to cut

Judge Sets Trial Date On Water Connect Ban

The McCarthy Co.'s $3 million suit against Marin Municipal Water District over the district's moratorium on new water connections, today won an early trial date in Marin Superior Court.

Judge E. Warren McGuire ordered the trial to begin the week of Jan. 14, and separated the case from two similar developers' suits against the water district.

The McCarthy firm seeks to build 292 apartments on 54 acres near the Marin County Civic Center, but was refused water connections by the district.

SAM6 Missiles Still A Mystery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli troops failed to capture the guidance equipment for advanced Soviet missiles introduced in Egypt during the October war, Pentagon officials said today.

Military officers had been openly hoping that Israeli forces would capture a SAM6 missile intact during their advance beyond the Suez Canal so that American technicians could examine the equipment to learn the latest Soviet technical gains, particularly the radar guidance system, which has been difficult to jam.

A Pentagon source said today that the Israelis had succeeded in capturing some damaged SAM6 missiles left behind by the Egyptians. But unlike the 1967 war when the Egyptians abandoned much useful gear on the battlefield, this time they took the guts of the missile system—the vans containing the guidance equipment—with them when they retreated, the sources said.

The SAM6 was generally considered the greatest threat to Israeli aircraft trying to operate in the Suez Canal area. It was a far more effective weapon than the older SAM2 the United States came up against over North Vietnam.

About 17 per cent of the US aircraft downed over Vietnam were victims of missiles. The SAM6 was designed by the Soviets specifically to hit lowflying aircraft.

The key to modern missilery lies not in the rocket itself but in the electronic gadgetry gathered together in a truck or two on the ground. This gear tracks the target and then radios steering instructions to the missile to guide it to the target.

Without the ground link such missiles are little more than a chunk of metal careening through the air.

Since the Israelis failed to capture the ground equipment, the United States lacks the detailed technical information it needs to design a counter measure or means of jamming or confusing the flow of guidance to the missile.

FALLEN WARRIORS — Egyptian soldiers carried the coffins of their dead comrades to waiting UN trucks yesterday for transfer through the lines of the Egyptian 2nd Army. Meanwhile, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Israel's decision to attend the forthcoming Middle East peace conference marked a turning point in the history of Arab-Israeli relations. WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Traffic Deaths

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A final count of the Thanksgiving weekend traffic death toll yesterday showed that fewer people died than the National Safety Council had forecast. The figure was also below normal for a similar four-day, nonholiday weekend.

A final United Press International tabulation showed 539 persons were killed in traffic during the 102-hour period beginning at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ending at midnight Sunday.

In its advance estimate, the council had said that anywhere between 625 and 725 persons would die on the nation's highways during the holiday weekend. In 1972, the figure was 679.

Greeks Released

ATHENS (UPI) — Police authorities in Salonica, under orders from the new military rulers, today began releasing scores of persons arrested last week for participation in anti-government demonstrations. An Athens newspaper said most of those arrested in the capital also would be freed.

About 1,500 students held a sit-in demonstration in Salonica University Nov. 16 and authorities rounded up scores of persons and charged them with instigating the protest.

Bombing Protest

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong peace negotiators today boycotted a scheduled meeting with South Vietnamese officers to protest government bombing raids on Communist territory last week.

Both sides said they were prepared for peace, but blamed the other for continuing warfare.

On the battlefield, Communist gunners today stepped up their shelling of the defense lines around Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon, and fired mortars at a district capital 40 miles northwest of Saigon, South Vietnamese spokesmen said.

The spokesmen said 157 mortar rounds hit the Hue defenses, about three times the average daily shelling rate. One soldier was killed and 13 were wounded, they said.

Military Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee has cut nearly $2.8 billion from the military budget, but most of it is going back in again.

Approving the $74.5 billion defense budget yesterday, the committee said the Pentagon misled the public by leaving out money for a military pay raise already in effect.

It said a supplemental appropriation of about $2.5 billion will be needed later for this, which just about wipes out the $2.8 billion in cuts made by the committee.

Rockets Miss

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces fired two Soviet-built rockets at Phnom Penh's Pochentong airport at dawn today, but missed the installation, the Cambodian military command said.

Military spokesmen said the 122mm rockets exploded harmlessly in rice fields half a mile from the end of the airport's single runway.

Rocket attacks against Pochentong are potentially dangerous to Cambodia. The airport and the Mekong River are the only two supply routes to Phnom Penh still open. Past rocket attacks have closed the airport for up to two days.

Today's attempt to hit the installation was the first attack this month.

Slaying Suspect

WALPOLE, Mass. (UPI) — An inmate at Walpole State Prison is suspected of killing the "Boston Strangler," Albert H. DeSalvo, but no motive has been established, according to authorities.

DeSalvo's pajama-clad body was found yesterday morning in his room in the prison hospital, and authorities said he had been dead at that time "up to 10 hours" from stab wounds.

District Attorney George Burke said an inmate was suspected in the killing, but "there has been no arrest and we're not even close to it. But somebody is under suspicion. We're tracking down a motive right now. We've got several leads."

Surgery For Liz

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor said she will undergo abdominal surgery at UCLA Medical Center tomorrow for what may be complications of many previous operations she has had over the years.

A spokesman for the 41-year-old actress said "Elizabeth may have an internal hernia or adhesions from an appendectomy, a hysterectomy or a couple of caesarian sections."

Miss Taylor's friends said doctors were optimistic the exploratory surgery would not reveal any growths, benign or otherwise.

Irish Killings

BELFAST (UPI) — A military spokesman said today extremists opposed to a coalition government were responsible for six killings in the past three days.

Police identified the latest victim, a man found shot and dying beside his car yesterday in Belfast's Ardoyne district, as Anthony Braden, 58, a Roman Catholic mill worker.

Braden was the 911th person killed in four years of violence among Northern Ireland's minority Catholics, majority Protestants and security forces.

Stolen Paintings Found By Police

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Police have recovered 16 stolen valuable paintings, three of them attributed to the Italian Renaissance master Tintoretto. They said the paintings' total worth was $3.4 million.

The paintings, stolen from a private collection in Rome, were found yesterday by police in a parked car on the Highway of the Sun near Florence. All were without frames.

Campaign Funding Curb Victory Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sponsors claimed enough support today to win Senate approval of a bill to outlaw private campaign contributions in federal elections and finance campaigns from tax funds.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., asserting the Watergate revelations have helped his cause, said he counted 51 votes for the proposal—34 "sure" votes and 17 "leaning." He said opponents had 39 sure votes and 10 senators were undecided.

The Senate agreed to vote on the issue late today or tomorrow.

Under the proposal, candidates for the House, Senate or presidency would be barred from accepting private campaign contributions in the general elections but would be assured fixed payments from the Treasury to underwrite the cost of seeking office.

Public funds would be made available to candidates in presidential primaries, matching dollar for dollar every private contribution of $100 or less.

The proposal builds upon the existing law providing taxpayers the right to signify on their tax returns that they want $1 of their taxes, or $2 for joint returns, to fund presidential campaigns.

But it doubles the amount of the checkoff and reverses the procedure, so taxpayers would have to signify if they did not want $2 (or $4) to serve that purpose.

The Senate debate is likely to center on whether the principle should be extended immediately to congressional candidates in the 1974 elections or should be limited to a test by presidential candidates in 1976.

The administration is expected to oppose the bill.

Equity Life Executives Deny Guilt

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Twenty-two former former executives of the Equity Funding Life Insurance Co. pleaded innocent yesterday to charges of fraud and conspiracy in what is alleged to be the biggest insurance swindle in U.S. history.

Equity Life's former president, Stanley Goldblum, 46, was named in 45 counts of the indictment returned by a federal grand jury.

Fred Levin, 36, former executive vice president in charge of insurance operations, was named in 33 counts. Samuel B. Lowell, 34, former executive vice president in charge of corporate operations and finance, was named in 22 counts.

Most of the others were former executives of Equity Funding Life Insurance Co., the insurance subsidiary which was the center of the alleged swindle. Two were former partners in an accounting firm charged with auditing Equity's books.

The alleged swindle, which involved a complex rigging of the firm's computer, was based on phony insurance policies made out to fictitious persons.

Equity Funding Life allegedly swelled its books with these nonexistent customers, making the firm appear more successful than it was, thus increasing the value of the parent firm's stock.

Egypt Warns Israel About Stall Tactics

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt said today it is reviewing its decision to attend a proposed international peace conference on the Middle East, and an Egyptian official warned Israel that the Egyptian armed forces are fully prepared for action if Israel does not withdraw to the Oct. 22 cease-fire lines.

Ahmed Anis, the official Egyptian spokesman, was asked at a Cairo news conference if Egypt might refuse to attend the December Geneva conference if the current negotiations with Israel on the separation of their forces along the Suez Canal are not successful.

He said Israel is "playing for time" at the military meetings held at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road and that "this can only reflect adversely its intentions towards the peace conference itself."

Asked about progress at the kilometer 101 talks which will resume tomorrow, Anis said:

"The Egyptian side has honored to the letter the UN document on the cease-fire stabilization.

"There is nothing so far to indicate the Israelis are going to do the same. The present Israeli stand is not one conducive to the consolidation of efforts being made for peace in the area."

The government's spokesman's statement followed a warning by another Egyptian officials that Egyptian armed forces are "fully prepared" to resume the fighting if Israel continues its stalling tactics.

Bachelor, 22, Wins Lottery

BOSTON (UPI) — Lamberto B. Aledia, a pharmicist's mate in the Navy, won $1 million yesterday in the Massachusetts lotterv, a state spokesman said.

The 22-year-old bachelor said he was thrilled with his sudden wealth, but added it was ironic that he had just reenlisted for six more years in order to earn money to go back to school, the spokesman said.

Aledia, of Cavite, the Philippines, is attached to the Newport, R.I., Naval Hospital. He said he originally joined the Navy to see the world.

Trade Balance Shows Surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States international trade balance showed a substantial surplus in October for the second consecutive month, the Commerce Department reported today.

Exports exceeded imports by $527.1 million in October, the department said.

The surplus was less than a eight-year high registered in September, but nevertheless was regarded by officials as a strong showing.

BELGIANS KEEP SENSE OF HUMOR

It takes a sense of humor to give up driving on Sundays. Yesterday these Belgians in Brussels poked fun at the ban by running a mock bus through the Grand'place. So far six European nations have banned nearly 30 million motor vehicles from their roads on Sunday in efforts to save enough fuel to see them through the winter. (UPI Telephoto)

Mill Valley Gets Tough On Meetings

The Mill Valley City Council decided last night that members of the art, planning and youth commissions can be automatically dismissed for missing three consecutive meetings.

The unanimous vote on the ordinance will bring these commissions in line with other city commissions already enforcing the three-meeting rule.

"This is nothing but making the ordinances all alike," said Mayor Jean S. Barnard, "We don't really need it, it's just a kind of buttoning up . . . members can be removed now without the ordinance by a majority vote of the council."

The ordinance, which will go into effect Dec. 26, includes only absences not excused by a majority vote of the commission.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

REFUND — Postponed to a later date a request by the Community Church Retirement Center for a sewer connection fee refund.

TAXIS — Adopted unanimously an ordinance increasing taxicab rates.

CROSSWALK — Approved unanimously the installation of a crosswalk and stop sign intersection at Rogue Moraes and Kipling drives.

STOP — Approved 3-to-2, with councilman Robert E. Burton and Mayor Barnard opposed, the installation of a stop sign at the Marion and Edgewood avenues intersection.

PARK — Approved unanimously the naming of the new park in Enchanted Knolls Hauke Park.

TRANSIT — Approved unanimously a recommendation by Burton to support the request by Golden Gate Transit and other public transit for larger fuel allocations from the government.

LICENSE — Directed the finance and city manager staffs to review the city's business license tax and report on any businesses which have failed to pay the fee at the Dec. 17 meeting.

ENERGY — Approved a suggestion by Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker that the city staff advise what the city can do to conserve energy.

MEETING — Adjourned to closed session to continue discussion of hiring a new city manager.

Tiburon Selects A San Rafael Firm For Project Impact Study

The Tiburon City Council last night picked Madrone Associates of San Rafael to do an environmental impact report on a downtown development project proposed by Sequoia Pacific of Santa Ana.

Councilman M. Carlisle Becker, chairman of a committee which interviewed several firms, recommended hiring Madrone to write the report estimated to cost $35,000 to $45,000, which the developer will pay.

Becker said the city probably can begin hearings on the first draft of the firm's report by Feb. 7.

Other firms the selection committee interviewed were: Environmental Science Associates of San Francisco, Wilsey and Ham of Foster City, Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams of San Francisco, Applied Science and Resource of Sacramento and Environmental Impact Planning of San Francisco.

The Tiburon City Council also:

GRADING — Amended an ordinance to require board of design review approval for any single-family home or duplex before grading can begin at the structure's site.

DRAINAGE — Asked the council's public services committee to study city drainage problems and develop possible solutions.

TIBURON BOULEVARD — Approved spending $29,500 as the city's share of the cost of realigning Tiburon Boulevard at Trestle Glen Drive. Another $62,087 will come from federal funds. Also decided to hold hearings in January on other possible realignments and improvements in Tiburon Boulevard between Stewart Drive and the downtown area.

STORM REPAIRS — Agreed to begin 13 storm damage repair projects from last winter with $23,500 of city gas tax funds and $73,250 in state and federal flood relief money.

REDEVELOPMENT — Appointed Mayor Branwell D. Fanning and councilman Albert H. Sennett to interview possible consulting firms to help with the city's proposed redevelopment project.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed session to discuss possible litigation.

Construction Ban Hearing Set

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A hearing on a proposed federal regulation that could halt major construction throughout the Bay Area will be held Dec. 7.

The all-day session will be held by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, starting at 9 a.m. in Room 220 of its headquarters at 100 California Street.

The regulation, issued by the EPA under a court order won by environmentalists, is supposed to be effective on Dec. 15, but an agency spokesman conceded the deadline probably will be missed. The agency's past practice has been to make regulations retroactive once they are issued officially.

the new regulation —coming on the heels of a virtual ban on new parking facilities and on existing free parking —would bar major projects which indirectly would increase air pollution by attracting heavy vehicular traffic. Such "complex sources" include large residential development, major highways, airports, sports centers, shopping centers and amusement parks.

Apparently responding to criticism that its past "public" hearings have barred most public testimony by putting it at the end of long sessions, the agency has revamped its procedures.

The new system rotates testimony among spokesmen for government agencies, industry, organizations and citizens. After one from each has spoken in this order, the sequence begins again.

The notice yesterday of the hearing said the panel of agency officials "will hear as many rounds of testimony as are necessary to listen to all those who have properly registered to speak." Interested speakers were asked to so notify the agency by this Friday. It also requested that three copies of each statement be submitted to the agency by Friday.

In a related issue, EPA invited public comment on its controversial new controls on parking, especially on the provisions for steep surcharges that range up to $450 a year per parking space. The deadline for the written comments, however, is Thursday.

The agency said the parking regulations "will be revised if revision is appropriate in the light of the comments."

Frank Zappa Music Will Be Presented

Sonoma State College music students will present a program of Frank Zappa music Friday from noon to 2 p.m. in Ives Hall.

The program will be directed by seniors Russell Antler and Lewis Halpert. Performers will include the jazz-rock band Hours Tangent.

Advanced A Day

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — World Savings Day celebrations, scheduled in Milan Sunday, have been advanced one day because of Italy's oil-saving ban on Sunday driving.

Wastewater Will Be Discussed

How wastewater is treated today and how it can be reclaimed for reuse will be the topic at a meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, Thursday at 9:45 a.m. at 44 Lower North Terrace, Tiburon.

The speakers will be John Schulte, administrative officer of the Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency, and sanitary engineer Edward Nute, according to Maggi Nicholson of the League.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

WORLD'S OIL RESERVES

With the lack of energy or limitation on its use the major topic in world news, known oil reserves around the globe are of primary importance. The Middle East, where the Arab-Israeli conflict is not yet settled, hold 53 per cent, more than the rest of the world combined. Neighboring Africa, with 16 per cent, has the second largest portion, more than Russia and all other Communist nations. Source of this UPI map, drawn to percentual proportions, was the Oil & Gas Journal.

Erasure Of Tape Is Demonstrated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, demonstrated in public court today how she said she accidentally erased part of a White House conversation recorded on tape.

The demonstration came in the court of U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who yesterday was given custody of 10 White House tapes. Sirica today directed Miss Woods to turn over the electrical equipment from her office so it could be determined how 18 minutes of one of the tapes was obliterated.

The Senate Watergate Committee at the same time authorized subpoenas for additional White House tapes. The committee's first subpoenas were not honored by President Nixon and Sirica said his court did not have power to enforce them.

A bill giving Sirica that power has passed the Senate and awaits House action.

The Senate committee also reissued subpoenas for employees of billionaire Howard R. Hughes who have refused to appear voluntarily. They were summoned to answer questions about $100,000 Hughes gave Nixon's friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The committee's actions came during a closed meeting at which the group voted unanimously to postpone additional public hearings until January.

Nixon met this morning with 21 congressional leaders but the legislators said he did not discuss Watergate or his reported pledge to make public his income taxes.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren said Nixon has not determined "in what form or forum" he will make public his taxes but he has a group working to provide "complete information" on his finances this week.

Miss Woods said she pushed the "record" button by accident while transcribing a tape on Oct. 1, as she turned to take a telephone call.

The recorder with which she worked was set up in Sirica's court and she went through the motions of what she was doing that morning. As she reached for the telephone the reel on the machine stopped.

"You took your foot off the pedal, didn't you?" asked assistant special prosecutor Jill Volner, apparently suggesting Miss Woods might have done the same thing that day.

"Yes, but that's just because I'm here and not doing anything else," she replied.

Such pedals attached to recorders are frequently used by secretaries for starting and stopping machines when they are transcribing taped conversations or memos.

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., quoted the President as telling six senators at the White House last night "that he was going to lay on the table all of his income tax returns" — including 1970 when news accounts say he paid $792 and 1972 when he reportedly paid $878. Nixon has said only that he paid "nominal sums" those years.

255 Captives Aboard Hijacked Jet Are Freed

BEIRUT (UPI) — Three Arab guerrillas freed 255 captives aboard a hijacked Dutch jumbo jet in Valletta, Malta, then flew to the Persian Gulf sheikhdom of Dubai where they refueled and took off again, a Dubai Airport spokesman reported.

The Royal Dutch Airlines (KLM) 747 took off from Dubai airport after a three-hour refuelling stopover. The spokesman said the plane left at 6:40 p.m. (6:40 a.m. PST) and headed in a southwesterly direction. KLM said in Amsterdam it was flying to Aden, the capital of Marxist Southern Yemen.

The plane was carrying 10 crewmen and a vice president of KLM who boarded at Valletta as a voluntary hostage. Since the Sunday night hijack the guerrillas have taken it to Damascus, Cyprus, Libya, Malta and Dubai.

Officials at the Libya's Tripoli airport said today the takeoff yesterday of the fully loaded plane was a "miracle." They said the plane used a runway that had been closed for 25 years and "is certainly unfit for landings and takeoffs." They said it almost collided with construction equipment on takeoff.

Diplomatic sources in Beirut said if the plane flew to Aden the hijackers might be given refuge and a safe conduct.

The Dubai airport official said during their stay at Dubai's modern airport, the hijackers made no demands beyond the one for refuelling. He said nobody left the plane and nobody went aboard. He said airport ground staff put 2,000 gallons of fuel into the plane's tanks.

More Than 35 Planes At Airport

An inspection by the San Rafael Planning Department yesterday showed 48 airplanes hangared at Smith Ranch Airport, despite a use permit which allows only 35 planes to use the facility, Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner reported today.

Hotchner said he will take the matter to city planning commissioners at 8 p.m. today in city hall, and said the commission may set a public hearing to consider revocation of the facility's use permit.

Repeated inspections of the facility have shown it to be in violation of the 35-plane lid set by the use permit.

City Atty. Fred Robbins said that city officials may require him to seek a court order to revok the use permit.

The private airport north of Santa Venetia, which has served small craft for decades, is currently negotiating with the Larwin Corp., owners of the land on which the airport is built, for renewal of a monthly lease.

The firm in September ordered the facility to shut down by last Monday, in an effort to clear the way for future development negotiations it may have with the city.

Airplane enthusiasts, however, have clung to the hope that the facility will not shut down, and have continued to operate the airport, pending outcome of final negotiations with the firm.

Woman Remains On Critical List

A San Francisco woman, accused of the fatal shooting of a Petaluma man at his home Saturday, remained in critical condition today at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital.

Olga Alexis Liubinsky, 43, was shot in the head by the wife of James Powers, 38, after Mrs. Liubinsky reportedly barged into the Powers home on Pauline Way and killed Powers.

Mrs. Liubinsky was booked in absentia into the Petaluma jail on suspicion of first degree murder.

Powers first avoided shots fired by Mrs. Liubinsky but was killed when he appeared in order to save his son's life.

ner, appeared before Judge McGuire today to argue that he should grant a temporary injunction to let the firm build its project. Gardiner argued that the water moratorium was based on a "contrived" and non-existent water shortage, but that "There is no short-term shortage; our reservoirs will be full again in the spring."

McGuire continued his hearing on the temporary injunction until after the main trial.

He also reversed his action of Nov. 7, when he had consolidated for a single trial, the suits filed by McCarthy, Cal-West Corp. and Johnny Ribiero, who also were denied water for new developments.

"If the moratorium is wrong, we want it decided quickly," he said.

But he opposed any temporary injunction, on the grounds that McCarthy is seeking to build without a water hookup permit, and argued that the main suit should have precedent because it will decide whether the district should be forced to issue the permit.

For the first delivery of heating oil after the regulations take effect, home heating customers stand to get "an initial fill-up" if enough is available. Thereafter, the formula that forces cooler homes would take effect.

OBITUARIES

RALPH STERNER

Ralph Sterner, long a familiar figure on the hiking trails of Mount Tamalpais, died in a veterans hospital in Martinez, friends in Marin reported yesterday.

He was 80 and had been in failing health for a long time. He was buried in Willamette National Cemetery near Portland, Ore.

A native of Iowa, he lived in Oregon and Southern California before moving to San Francisco where he worked many years as a city electrical inspector. He served with the Navy in World War I.

Sterner made his first hike on Mount Tamalpais in 1920 and continued his treks until about two years ago. For many years he traveled the Dipsea Trail. By 1940 he estimated that he had taken more than 2,000 weekend hikes from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach and had walked 31,000 miles. From 1940 on he shortened his trail and walked mainly in the Mill Valley and Muir Woods areas.

He was among those interviewed by the Oral History Committee of the Mill Valley Library Association as part of its history project.

He is survived by two sisters, one in Kentucky and the other in New Hampshire.

DOLLY SHAW

Mrs. Shaw worked as a private duty nurse before retiring several years ago.

She made her home with her sister, Dixie Akers, at 1675 Novato Boulevard.

She was born in Arkansas and grew up there and in Alabama, where she attended nursing school.

She had lived in California 44 years, the last 13 in Marin.

In addition to her sister, she is survived by two nephews and a grandnephew and two grandnieces, all of Novato.

Memorial services will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato.

JEAN PASHA

Requiem Mass for Jean Ann Pasha of Sleepy Hollow will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Bartholomew's Church in San Mateo.

Mrs. Pasha, 72, died Sunday after collapsing at her home at 7 Mather Road. The Marin coroner's office said she had been under a doctor's care for chest pains.

She was born in Seattle, Wash., but had lived in California since 1929. She had lived in Marin the past two years.

Mrs. Pasha was the wife of George W. Pasha II, owner of Pasha Truckaways in San Francisco.

She is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Donna Perasso of San Francisco; a son, George W. Pasha III of San Anselmo; a brother, Dana Hartney; four sisters, Margaret Scholtes, Frances Kain, Gertrude Carroll and Sister Mary Dana, all of Seattle, and eight grandchildren.

Entombment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

GEORGE R. WILLIAMS

Military funeral was held yesterday in San Rafael for George Roger Williams, 51, who died at a local hospital last Wednesday.

Williams died after being rushed to the hospital when he was found ill at his home at 211 Laurel Place, San Rafael.

For the past two and a half years, he had been a custodian for the Larkspur School District.

He was born in San Diego but had lived in Marin 10 years.

He is survived by five daughters, Irene Cook of Glen Ellen, and Gail, Jean, Anne and Lisa Williams of San Rafael; three sons, Roger, Park and Paul Williams, all of San Rafael; and two sisters, Betty Scartecini of Utah and Geraldine Gilbert of San Diego, and a brother, Frank Hein also of San Diego.

Inurnment was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

MRS. VAN HOUTTE

Catherine E. Van Houtte, a 40-year resident of Mill Valley, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Van Houtte, 93, had lived most of her life in California.

She was the widow of the late Charles P. Van Houtte Sr., who had been a personnel supervisor for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in San Francisco.

Mrs. Van Houtte was a member of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley. At the time of her death, she resided at 307 Sycamore Avenue.

Survivors include a son, Charles P. Van Houtte Jr. of Mill Valley; three daughters, Alice Van Houtte of Mill Valley, Aileen Prydz of Santa Rosa and Loretta Elizondo of Mexico; four grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at Our Lady of Mount Carmel at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley. Burial will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

HARMEN EVERS

Private funeral for Harmen Evers of San Anselmo, Bank of American executive who died Friday, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow in San Anselmo.

The 40-year-old Evers, assistant vice president of international banking at the Bank of America's world headquarters in San Francisco, was a native of Voorburg, The Netherlands. He graduated in 1952 from Huygens Lyceum in Voorburg after six years of study. After two years in the Dutch Air Force, he attended the University of Rotterdam and graduated with a doctorate in economics.

A specialist in international economics, he joined the Aramco Overseas Co. in The Hague in 1955, and in later years was associated with Siera Radio and the Philips Lamps Ltd., both in The Netherlands. In 1966 he became head of research for the Centrale Bank Van Suriname in Paramaribo, Surinam, in South America, later joining the Bank Van de Niderlandse Antillen in Curacao, remaining there until coming to San Francisco to join the Bank of America last January.

He had written numerous articles on economic matters, and had lectured and taught courses in banking while in the Caribbean.

The family home is at 526 The Alameda in San Anselmo.

He is survived by his wife, Ella Enna Eleonora Evers-Meinardi; a son, David Victor Harmen; his mother, Gannetge Elizabeth di Bruin Evers of The Netherlands, and a brother, Theo Evers, also of The Netherlands.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

MRS. McGRATH

Sarah S. McGrath of Terra Linda died today in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 46.

A native of San Francisco, she had lived in Marin 12 years, residing at 51 Elda Drive.

Mrs. McGrath was active in the Marin Aid to Retarded Children organization. Her husband, William M. McGrath, is contracting manager for the American Bridge Division of United States Steel in South San Francisco.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. McGrath is survived by a son, James, and a daughter, Sandra.

A Mass of Resurrection will be offered at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Isabella's Church, Terra Linda. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

VINCENT MARCOVICH

Funeral for Vincent A. Marcovich of San Rafael, a lifelong resident of Marin County, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Marcovich died Sunday in his apartment at 410 D Street. He was 24.

He was a native of Kentfield and had graduated from Terra Linda High School.

He enjoyed drawing and painting and tinkering with cars.

He is survived by his parents, John and Hazel Marcovich of San Rafael, and two brothers, John J. Marcovich of San Francisco and Peter M. Marcovich of San Rafael.

Private family prayer service will precede the funeral tomorrow at 10:45 a.m.

Entombment will be private.

ARKANSAS ON THE RAMPAGE

Arkansas National guardsmen pile up sandbags to make a levee to protect houses from the flooding Arkansas River in North Little Rock. Several volunteers joined the guardsmen yesterday as residents evacuated their homes along the rampaging river.

Auto Wrecking Yard Is Ordered To Move

MacAndy Auto Parts in Tamalpais Valley was given 90 days yesterday by the county planning commission to move its wrecking yard elsewhere.

The commission's unanimous decision to revoke a use permit for the wrecking yard will not effect MacAndy's auto parts sales operation at 242 Shoreline Highway.

The firm has five working days to appeal the commission's action to the county board of supervisors.

It has been at odds for some time with Tamalpais Valley residents who object to the appearance of the wrecking yard near Dolan's Corner.

In August, MacAndy's was given three months to come up with a plan for improving the appearance of the business but yesterday a spokesman for the local businessmen's association said preliminary plans for MacAndy's and other business had been drafted but not accepted.

A majority of commissioners appeared to side with Harvey E. Bragdon, chief of current planning, that the wrecking yard operation "is an objectionable land use" for the area.

Marin County Planning Commission Also:

TENNIS — Postponed to Jan. 7 a proposed master plan to build 24 tennis courts and other recreational facilities on 13 acres of a 74-acre site in a quiet valley near Marinview in Tennessee Valley.

MEETING — Will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Strawberry Recreation Center to review the proposed Strawberry Area Master Plan.

STRAWBERRY — Approved the request of the Doric Development Co. to build 170 condominium dwellings instead of 217 apartment units as a first stage of the Seaport Hills project overlooking the Strawberry Shopping Center. The project was approved two years ago and is ready for construction. Yesterday's change reduces the number of units but not the exterior appearance of the project since remaining units will be larger.

APPEAL — Upheld the appeal of Richard C. Alcorn to divide his 4.7-acre parcel on Indian Valley Road near Novato into four parcels. The planning director had approved only three lots because of the slope on one portion of the site but planning commissioners agreed the site can be built upon.

NURSERY — Rejected the appeal of Marguerite Lehigh of Novato who protested the granting of a use permit to Marilyn Taylor to operate a nursery school and day care center at 856 Sutro Avenue. The use permit allows Miss Taylor to have 30 youngsters at the school and leaves open the possibility of increasing the number to 50.

SCENIC DEED — Recommended county supervisors accept an offer of a scenic restriction deed for a three-acre parcel at 40 Ridge Road near Mill Valley. The property, owned by the Muir Woods Park Improvement Association, is adjacent to the Mount Tamalpais State Park. Acceptance by the county would remove it from the tax roll.

Condominium Fire Forces Evacuation

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Occupants on five floors of the $15 million Regency Towers Condominium complex were evacuated yesterday when fire broke out in an equipment room on the ninth level.

The 218 unit complex is only partially occupied. Occupants were evacuated from the 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th floors when the blaze erupted at 4:11 p.m.

Guild To Open New Gallery On Saturday

The Baulines Craftsman's Guild will open its new gallery with a benefit sale of creations by 18 craftsmen from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at 15 Brighton Avenue in Bolinas.

Proceeds will go to the guild's educational apprenticeship program, according to Thomas D'Onofrio, coordinator.

Scheduled for display are handmade musical instruments, including electric guitars, furniture, woodwork, textiles and tapestries, graphics, gold and silver jewelry and stained glass. There also will be exhibits by filmmaker Ben VanMeter.

8:03 a.m., Fairfax — Lint in large clothes presser at Fairfax French Laundry and Dry Cleaners at 101 Bolinas Road ignited; $200 damage to presser.

October Federal Budget $6.5 Billions In Red

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal budget was $6.5 billion in the red at the end of October, the Treasury Department said yesterday.

The government took in $17.6 billion last month but spent $23.1 billion, leaving a $5.5 billion shortfall for October, the fourth month of the 1974 fiscal year.

Administration officials still hold out hope for a balanced budget, or even a tiny surplus, in the 12 months ending June 30, 1974. The official forecast, however, is for a modest $2.7 billion deficit for the current fiscal year, and for July-October, the budget already is $6.5 billion in the hole.

Wrong Address

Bruce Lamar Mumford, 53, arrested Friday on suspicion of assault, gave his address as 239 Picnic Hill, San Rafael. Although San Rafael has no street called Picnic Hill, there is a Picnic Avenue. Mumford's address is not listed in the city's reverse directory. The Independent-Journal on Saturday mistakenly reported he resided at 194 Stewart Drive, Tiburon.

Lands Are Zoned For Low Density

Low-density rezoning of scenic lands listed as open space in the county general plan was started yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission. (Another planning commission story, page 1.)

The "blanket zoning" will eventually cover some 10,000 acres in the eastern portion of the county and will allow no more than one home for every 10 acres.

"The idea of a uniform, low-density zoning designation in ridge and upland open space areas is similar to the philosophy of A-60 zoning in the inland rural and coastal" areas of the county, a staff report said. "A general density should be applied to an open space category, unless there is a specific reason for an exception."

In the eastern urbanized section of the county, there are about 21,000 acres listed as open space in the county plan. Planning Director Werner von Gundell said the lands are about evenly divided between incorporated and unincorporated areas.

Rezoned yesterday were about 220 acres northeast of Miller Creek Road in the foothills overlooking Marinwood and about 215 acres in the Sorich Park area near San Anselmo.

The Marinwood rezoning included some 158 acres owned by Nicholas Daphne, who, through San Rafael attorney Joseph E. Sheeks, protested the action.

Sheeks said the land has been mentioned for open space acquisition by the Marinwood Community Services District and any rezoning would lower its value. He acknowledged, however, negotiations are not under way.

In the Sorich Park rezoning, the Max D. Schenk parcel totaling about 15 acres was excluded from the rezoning.

The county planning department recommended a zoning which would allow only 10 units on the site which county supervisors have agreed should have about 20 dwellings.

Planning Commissioners said since the land had only recently been discussed by the supervisors and the density agreed upon, no change should be made.

They agreed unanimously with the other rezonings, however, and referred them on to supervisors.

Artist To Show

Works by Mill Valley artist Tom Belsky will be shown Saturday and Sunday at the Garden of Delights Gallery, 2672 Bridgeway in Sausalito, the gallery has announced.

General Plan Housing Element Adopted By Larkspur Councilmen

The Larkspur City Council, deciding that high residential density is the answer to the problem of providing middle-income housing, last night unanimously adopted the housing element of its proposed general plan.

The decision followed a report by city Planning Director John A. Roberto which painted a picture of rapidly vanishing middle-income housing in the city.

Providing low-income housing is impossible for the city, Roberto said.

Upon the suggestion of councilman Joan L. Sestak, the council wrote into the plan that "high density housing should provide moderate-income and medium-income units," without specifying the quantity of each.

Densities were defined as: high, 14-to-20 dwelling units per gross acre (prior to easements, roadways, etc.); medium, 6-to-13 units per acre, and low, 1-to-5 units per acre.

The precise definition of the price ranges of the various categories "is to be worked out at the time the development is done," Roberto told the Independent-Journal after the meeting.

The plan also contains provisions for a "bonus system" to induce developers to include middle-income units in their proposals. Roberto's staff was told to work out the specifics.

Roberto, who had been asked to prepare a study on housing cost trends in Larkspur, presented data which showed "a drastic shift upward."

The price of a single-family residence sold in Larkspur rose from about $32,000 in 1968 to about $63,000 in 1973, Roberto said. Adjusting for inflation, the jump was still from $32,000 to $46,000.

Middle-income housing accounted for 52 per cent of the sales in 1968 but only 8 per cent in 1973, he continued. Meanwhile, high-income sales zoomed from 36 per cent to 91 per cent in the same period, and low-income sales plunged from 12 per cent to nearly zero.

"There is a huge demand, low supply, and a seller's market," he said. "The price has been bid up. Inflation is not causing the trend."

Things were better in the area of rentals, Roberto asserted, saying that middle-income rentals rose less drastically from 62 per cent in 1970 to 85 per cent in 1973.

In rentals, also, the amount of low-income housing available plummeted — from 21 per cent to eight-tenths of 1 per cent. "There is nothing we can do as far as 'low' is concerned," he said. "We require some kind of a government subsidy."

The meeting concluded a series of hearings on the proposed general plan. The council decided to meet with Marin County Planning Commission Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss the document.

In another action, the council decided to ask local merchants what steps they have taken or suggestions they would make to limit energy usage during the current crisis.

McCall Views Presidency

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon Gov. Tom McCall says he is considering running for President in 1976 to give a voice to disgruntled Republicans and Democrats as well as independents.

The Republican governor was described by Newsweek magazine in an interview as a potential candidate "but not necessarily as a Republican."

Asked about a magazine article that said he might run "but not necessarily as a Republican," McCall said he would consider a third party role such as the one played by Alabama Gov. George Wallace in the 1968 election.

Alert Grand Jury Cites Shortcomings

Marin County has an alert, conscientious grand jury this year, and we should all be thankful this is so.

The grand jury is taking seriously its responsibility to inquire into the operations of governments within the county. In two recent interim reports, it has neither pulled punches nor minced words where it found shortcomings.

This is all to the good. Under our system, the grand jury has a watchdog function which it alone can perform. Governments cannot investigate themselves. The citizen does not have the necessary access to records nor the necessary subpoena powers; nor would an unofficial citizen committee's findings carry very much weight. The grand jury has the power and the official standing to do the job. Not all grand juries do it. But this year's jury is showing it can be done.

IN THE SECOND interim report within a week, the grand jury was critical of operation of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

There have been complaints and disillusionment about the way this public building is used — and not used. Local organizations whose leaders looked forward with high anticipations to opening of the building have found that they cannot use it because it is priced out of their reach. Meanwhile, its operating cost is so high that the taxpayers must make up large annual deficits. The deficit for this fiscal year is expected to be $171,733, according to the county budget.

THE GRAND JURY lays principal blame for this on the building's manager, Leon G. Kalimos, who was chosen for the job because of his experience in theatrical booking.

Kalimos has brought some first-rate attractions into our county auditorium — bigger and better ones than many of us thought could be booked there. But in so doing, he has closed off use of the auditorium to local groups and has operated it at a continuing loss, as shown by the county budget figures.

The grand jury blames this on "a policy of negativism" and on an operating setup loaded with nepotism.

THAT OPERATING setup requires any user of the auditorium to hire its ticket takers and its concessionaires, even though the group may have volunteers willing and ready to do the work and may hope for concession profits to augment ticket sales. This in itself closes out some local uses.

Further, the fees charged to such users appear unrealistic. They are claimed to be necessary to eliminate deficits. But the deficits continue. And the grand jury found the auditorium has been unused on 113 week ends since it opened — on many of which it might have been in use if lower fees were levied.

The auditorium has not provided the setting for local events that was intended. We Marin taxpayers are subsidizing outside entertainment groups while our local organizations still must seek elsewhere for facilities. Witness the Marin Shakespeare Festival as moving into San Francisco's Palace of Fine Arts to save money.

THE GRAND JURY suggests that the county set up a cultural commission to oversee the auditorium. We suggest as an alternative — to prevent further proliferation of commissions — that the parks and recreation commission be put in charge.

Certainly it needs supervision it is not getting through the board of supervisors-county administrator-Kalimos chain of command.

Turning Inward

One result of the energy shortage in Marin will be an overdue return to the thrift ethic. Conspicuous consumption will be dealt a bad blow. It looks like we will be staying home more, with more time to think. This will be good. Perhaps it will make us better people.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Over-Reaction Feared In Gas, Oil Shortage

By EARL G. WATERS

There is great danger that government may over-react to the fuel shortage and impose unnecessary regulations and hardships upon the public. Unfortunately, this is a tendency of government. Faced with a problem, it rushes a remedy without considering all of the facts and all of the ramifications of its corrective efforts.

It is for this very reason that state Sen. Lawrence E. Walsh, D-Los Angeles, has scheduled hearings by the Senate Transportation Committee, which he chairs, for early next month. Walsh requested Governor Reagan to call the legislature back into session immediately but said he would hold hearings in either event.

"THERE ARE MANY questions which must be answered before we can take intelligent action on the fuel crisis," Walsh said.

"We want to know how appropriate these recommendations are and identify the real problems. We know that 94 per cent of the commodities on the California markets rely upon the trucking industry for distribution. If that system bogs down, the people are going to pay through the nose for food and other necessities. If the farmers are not given sufficient allocations, food prices will go sky high next year."

The senator said he was uncertain as to whether the federal government was going altogether in the right directions in the proposals to date "or whether their program is appropriate for California. We must be doubly sure whatever action the state takes will be proper and necessary."

He lashed out at what he termed some "hasty decisions" which have already been taken.

"I think before we slap inconveniences on the public as a whole, we should examine alternatives," he said.

HE SUGGESTED that before government restricts the public's use, it should apply some restrictions to itself.

"I haven't heard one word from Washington about any cutbacks in government usage. If all levels of government declared one day a week a "fuel saving day" for their own operations and immobilized the millions of publicly owned vehicles on that day, perhaps the general public wouldn't have to be inconvenienced at all."

He said he is considering incentives such as tax deductions and free parking for workers who use their cars for car pooling.

Other alternatives to gas rationing and speed reductions are being explored, including restricting the use of gasoline for motor boats, campers and other non-essential consumption.

Walsh said he also intends to consider relaxing truck load limits. "Many of our highways are capable of supporting heavier truckloads without damage."

"The way things are in Washington, the Americans don't know what to believe."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

What Has Happened To Thanksgiving Day?

I was wondering whatever happened to Thanksgiving? Before Thanksgiving day came, Christmas decorations were already up. In the Thanksgiving day parade, they were playing "Jingle Bells." In the I-J Thanksgiving evening, there were two whole sections filled with advertisements on Christmas gifts. If people act like this every year, we should abolish the holiday, because it's gotten ridiculous.

The advertising man, though, can't wait till Thanksgiving, because right after that, boom! Christmas is coming.

I've heard of "Christmas spirit," but this has gotten ridiculous. What has happened to Thanksgiving?

Thanksgiving Feature Pleases Principal

As a principal of one of the schools featured, I was particularly delighted in reading your article, "Youngsters' Thanksgiving Views", in last Thursday's paper. On a very special day that helps bring families together, it was especially gratifying to read and see how youngsters expressed themselves on Thanksgiving Day.

May I also compliment your reporting staff for having the insight to create and develop a feature which attaches so much importance to school children in your newspaper

Friendly Citizen Became Children's Favorite

The fair city of Larkspur lost a most friendly citizen, Mrs. Lillian M. Schroeder. Mrs. Schroeder, a native of the state of Montana, came to live in the San Francisco Bay Area in the year 1921. She then looked about for an environment that would suit her desire. Mrs. Schroeder was fortunate and found just what she wanted. It was in the unique, beautiful Madrone Canyon, Larkspur.

Mrs. Lillian Schroeder acquired property and moved into a small home with a lovely flower garden. The children on their way to and from school admired the little lady attending her flowers in the garden, and she became their special friend. Children, in their love and devotion, truly named her their good "Auntie Lily-Bell."

Mrs. Lillian Schroeder, while visiting a sister in Santa Barbara, passed away Sunday, Nov. 11, and is survived by five devoted, loving sisters.

PG&E Rates Encourage Heavy Electricity Use

I read . . . where PG&E was asking for another rate hike. This made me angry. Why? Because this summer I took a 17-day vacation, pulled all the plugs from the wall sockets except my refrigerator, thinking my electric bill would be half of what I was paying. But when I received my bill it was only 33 cents less than the last month. I called PG&E and explained this after being told that my refrigerator may have been running all that time. Then the clerk got the office copies of my bills to compare what I was saying. She then made this remark: Because I didn't use the electric I was penalized and had to pay a higher rate per kilowatt. The rates are set for the more you use, the cheaper the rate. That's why we have all-electric homes. I was also informed that if I didn't use it at all, I would still have to pay a determined amount, called a service charge.

So during this so-called energy crisis, if everyone would turn the heat down, and the lights out, PG&E would automatically have a rate hike, and if the new hike is approved PG&E would double their money. Besides that, I read where PG&E made $7 million more last year than the year before. I only made $4,892 last year. "I've seen the light" and I'll leave it on; I can't afford not to. PG&E will get your money anyway.

Scene On The Great Airplane When Arabs Hijacked The World

WASHINGTON — "This is your pilot speaking. I wish to announce that the Arabs have just hijacked the world. The next voice you hear will be that of one of the hijackers."

"This is Faisal. I have a gun pointed at the head of the pilot and all of you will do exactly as I say. First, there is an Israeli passenger on board and I want someone to throw him out the door."

"WE CAN'T DO THAT," an American passenger cried. "That's blackmail."

"Alors! Why can't we do it?" a French passenger asked. "If we don't, we'll all go down in flames."

"It's giving in to terrorism," the American replied.

Faisal's voice came over the loudspeaker. "I have just received word that a Dutch passenger was seen talking to the Israeli passenger. I want the Dutchman thrown out of the plane as well."

"I say," a British passenger said, "that's rather a drastic measure. But then again, one must think of oneself. I guess we have no choice."

"OF COURSE YOU HAVE a choice," the American said. "The Dutch are your best friends. Surely you wouldn't throw a friend out the door?"

"In an ordinary situation I would say of course not. But this isn't an ordinary situation, is it? We'd better do what the Arab chap wants."

The West German passenger chimed in, "Ve haf to do vat he asks or ve'll all be dead. Who is going to miss one Israeli and one Dutchman?"

"But if we dump the Israeli and the Dutchman, Faisal may insist on our dumping someone else," the American said. "Our only chance is to stick together If he kills all of us he will have to kill himself."

An inscrutable Japanese passenger bowed. "If it were just myself, I would spare the Israeli and the Dutchman, but I must think of all transistor radios I have on board."

FAISAL SAID, "I'm cutting down the power."

The Israeli and Dutchman refused to budge from their seats.

"Zut. If you cared anything about your fellow men," the French passenger said to them, "you would jump out the door and spare the rest of us."

The British passenger said, "Good God, can't you see what you're doing to us? Be good sports and go over the side."

The West German was hysterical. "Hurry up or the crazy Arab vill cut off the throttle."

THE AMERICAN SAID, "Maybe we can speak to Faisal and talk him out of it."

"Are you fou?" the Frenchman exclaimed. "If we put in a good word for the Israeli or the Dutchman, he'll make us jump, too."

"We can't stay up here forever or we'll run out of fuel," the Japanese passenger cried.

Faisal spoke again. "You people don't seem to understand. If you don't do something about the Israeli and the Dutchman in the next few moments, I'm going to turn off all the engines."

The Frenchman, the Britisher, the West German and Japanese passenger started toward the Israeli, who suddenly pulled a hand grenade from under his shirt. "If you touch me, I'll blow up the plane," he said.

"Basta," said an Italian passenger who spoke up for the first time. "I knew I should have taken the train."

Removal Of Nixon Would Not End Conflicts In Washington

President Nixon's friends and critics are for the moment united on one proposition. They agree that conditions as they are now in the United States are perilous for the country and must be concluded.

They differ over what steps to take. The critics say Mr. Nixon should resign. The friends are asking for impeachment proceedings which tye assume will end ih acquittal after which "all would accept the verdict in good faith."

This observer wishes to dissent from the basic premise of both Nixon friends and enemies.

THE PRESENT CONDITION is one of political tension, true. But is this because Mr. Nixon is in political trouble, and would it be ended by a resignation, or by conviction or acquittal after impeachment?

Also true, this tension has reduced Mr. Nixon's ability to influence domestic politics. But is this an intolerable condition and would it change for the better if Mr. Nixon left the White House?

Any change in the White House before the legal end of Richard Nixon's second term would solve some problems but it would bring new and difficult ones in their turn. The idea that everyone would settle down and accept the impeachment verdict in good faith strikes me as unrealistic.

Resignation or conviction would embitter the Nixon loyalists. Acquittal would never convince the critics. Mr. Nixon is a controversial political figure. Nothing is going to change that.

His range of action has been curbed, but does this mean that he is now so "wounded and weakened" that the country is in peril?

He has not been curbed in his freedom to conduct his major foreign policies of rapprochement with China and detente with the Soviet Union. His secretary of state has just achieved the near miracle of a cease-fire in the Middle East and enjoys a remarkable opportunity to convert it into a lasting peace.

MR. NIXON STILL is free to pursue such domestic policies as are acceptable to the Democratic majority in the Congress.

What he cannot do, and what no successor could do, is override the dominant wishes of the Congress. That is where the trouble all started.

The Nixon White House assumed after the last election that Mr. Nixon's landslide presidential mandate overrode the equally decisive congressional mandate. It didn't. That issue is settled.

Congress is no longer a recessive branch of government. It is again assertive. It will assert itself against Mr. Nixon or anyone who might take his place.

THERE IS AN UNDERLYING conflict between the basic Nixon constituency and the old New Deal-New Frontier-Great Society constituency.

The Nixon supporters want more rollback of the New Deal. Nixon enemies want the New Deal moving forward again. This conflict will continue whatever happens in the White House.

Mr. Nixon may or may be serve out his full term. That depends on the top Republicans, whose first concern now is not for Mr. Nixon but over what may happen to Republican candidates in the next year's midterm elections.

The serious question in their minds is whether Mr. Nixon has become an unacceptable burden on the party.

But until and unless the Republicans themselves reach that conclusion, the United States gets along no worse than at many other times in its often stormy political history.

Limits have been built around presidential privilege and authority. Mr. Nixon is not allowed to rule by edict. He can rule only with the consent of the Congress. He is penned well inside the limits of the Constitution, not breaking further out of it. But those limits will pen in his successor.

His departure, if it happens, will make less difference than his critics hope, and his supporters fear.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Attack On Richardson Seen As Vendetta By President

WASHINGTON — As thought President Nixon hadn't enough troubles, he and the White Huse chief of staff, Gen. Alexander Haig, are accused of promoting a campaign that can have no other end than damaging the reputation of Elliot Richardson. The attorney general who resigned rather than fire Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox is the target of charges of perjury and the lie as well as insinuations of personal misconduct.

Richardson expects to return to the Senate Judiciary Committee to repeat what he said under oath during two days of testimony. The Nixon-Haig accusation is that the attorney general had initially approved not only the compromise providing for Sen. John Stennis to monitor the disputed tapes but the second part of the compromise calling Cox off from any further judicial process to obtain other tapes and documents.

As related to two groups of Republican Senators, Richardson reneged and lied when he told the Judiciary Committee he never okayed putting hobbles on Cox. His resignation following the firing of Cox touched off a storm of anger, with Richardson emerging as Mr. Integrity.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS, who are friends and admirers of Richardson are asking what can possibly have motiviated the president other than vindictiveness. He had shown his confidence in Richardson by bringing him down from Massachusetts as undersecretary of state and then giving him three cabinet posts — Health, Education and Welfare, Defense, and Justice.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R.-Md., is one member of the Judiciary Committee pushing for Richardson's recall. He is also urging the committee to subpoena Haig, who is accused of spreading the lie charge a week or more before the White Huse sessions. This Haig indignantly denies. He says it is merely a matter of different "perceptions" and he adds he would be willing to go before the committee to give his version.

The former attorney general has additional evidence not yet disclosed to prove his point. On the Friday afternoon before the week end "massacre," Richardson received from the president a letter ordering him to tell Cox he was not to use further judicial process in pursuing the Watergate scandal. Since he had been unable through the entire week to see the president, he dictated a statement he intended to make public rejecting the order to Cox. Learning the White House had not released the letter, Richardson withheld his own statement. Both these documents will in all probability go into the record if and when Richardson goes back to testify.

PUZZLING TO SENATORS concerned, not only over the fate of Richardson as an individual but over the future of the Republican party if men of independence can be crippled, is the role of Haig. His sole experience in civilian life was as assistant to Henry A. Kissinger when the secretary of state was special adviser for security affairs to the president.

Today, as one Republican put it, he is the equivalent of a prime minister. Throughout the week when he was trying to talk to the president, Richardson could speak only with Haig.

The lowest blow, as reported by the Knight Newspapers, is to revive the drunk charge. According to the Knight report, that is traceable to agency officials who spread what appear to be fabricated reports about Richardson's arrest for drunken driving.

In the rush of esteem that came with his resignation and with his resolute press conference, Richardson to many independents as well as Republicans had the look of a possible presidential candidate. The man from Massachusetts who had proved himself in difficult assignments could be the answer from 1976 when so many had been tried and found wanting.

Word of this upsurge of feeling, however unrealistic it may be as far as a base for Richardson in the Republican party goes, could not have escaped the president and the men around him. Jealousy and resentment could be part of the motive for what Richardson's friends believe is a quit vendetta. Richardson, the Boston Brahmin, Harvard, the accomplished lawyer, is many things the president is not. Largeness of spirit is one of those things.

Apathy Replaces Uproar At Cotati Council Meetings

Cotati's city council meetings only a few months ago were raucous events with yelling and shouting under the glare of television cameras, but have now dwindled into routine and rather dull sessions.

Since September's unsuccessful recall election against the three younger councilmen, opposition forces seem to have stalked away to complain privately. A few persons who were active in the recall effort still attend council meetings, but rarely both to speak and sit quietly muttering to themselves when an unpopular action is taken.

Even young supporters of the councilmen no longer bother to attend unless some really important matter is on the agenda. Apparently they feel their friends are secure in office and no longer need their support at meetings.

None of the councilmen yearns for the screaming and yelling sessions of a few months ago, but the growing apathy is unsettling.

WHILE MOST governmental offices Thanksgiving, the Cotati City Hall was bursting with activity as nearly 50 residents gathered for a Thanksgiving pot luck dinner.

The group of mainly young people brought primarily vegetarian dishes, but four turkeys donated by an anonymous resident were quickly devoured. Cotatians who belong to the African dance troupe at Sonoma State College staged a short show for what surely must have been one of the more unusual Thanksgiving programs in the area.

THE COTATI COUNCIL seems adamant about avoiding a repetition of last year's hassle over the plastic Noel sign. A few residents and businessmen collected funds to buy the decorative sign last year and were outraged when then - Mayor Annette Lombardi and Councilman Stephen Laughlin removed it from Plaza Park, saying it desecrated the natural atmosphere of the park.

This year the council may try to solve its problem by giving the sign to the Cotati Fire Protection District for display in front of the fire house — or anywhere but in the park. City officials plan a more natural style for park decorations, such as living evergreens.

Agriculture Committee Calls For 25-Year Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state's Blue Ribbon Committee on Agriculture yesterday called for a 25-year master plan for farming in California, predicting the industry will be valued at $18 billion by the year 2000.

The committee, appointed by Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke as part of the state Economic Development Commission, listed nine objectives in helping California's No. 1 industry "achieve its full potential to the maximum benefit of the citizens of the state."

C. Brunel Christensen, state food and agriculture director and chairman of the committee, said the group would use a task force approach to "investigate and make specific recommendations on the tools agriculture will require to reach its potential."

In its first in a series of reports, the committee said University of California economists have projected California's farm acreage will increase from a present 8 million to 9.7 million acres by the year 2000. The value of the industry itself is expected to jump from $6 billion this year to $18 billion by 2000, the report said.

Christensen said a final master plan would be developed within a year. He added that the areas it would deal with would include land use legislation, labor legislation, agricultural research, marketing, environmental considerations, transportation and energy.

In its report, the committee said it believed that the economic development of California will benefit from the development of the master plan "because agriculture is, and will remain, California's most economically significant industry."

The objectives listed in the report included:

"Foster a public policy on land use which will allow agriculture to meet its potential while remaining responsive to the needs of an urban society, improved environmental quality, and additional recreational areas."

"Develop programs to improve farm employment conditions consistent with maintaining a strongly competitive California agriculture in U.S. and world markets."

"Determine whether the highest market value of the agricultural value as the highest and best use should be the basis for inheritance tax appraisal."

"Develop a recommendation concerning development of export markets for California products and investigate alternatives to increase such exports."

"Recommend whether the state should encourage recreational use of agricultural lands through supplementary payments, tax benefits, or changes in laws dealing with accident responsibility of landowners."

"Identify areas of research needs for production, processing, and marketing."

"Review the tax procedures and policies with agricultural lands and recommend criteria for legislative protection of California's agricultural lands."

Three Oil Firms Sued In Ignoring Subpoenas

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A legislative committee investigating a contract which could be costing the state $50 million a year yesterday filed a lawsuit against three major oil companies.

The lawsuit charged Mobil, Exxon and Texaco with failing to comply with a subpoena to turn over records in connection with the investigation by the Crude Oil Pricing Subcommittee.

The panel has already found the three firms in contempt of the legislature.

Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, chairman of the committee, asked in the lawsuit that Mobil and Exxon officials be jailed and Texaco fined $150,000-a-day until they comply with the subpoena.

The amount is how much the state could be losing as the result of the contract with the firms.

Cory said in a statement, "These oil companies have made a concerted effort to thwart the joint committee's investigation into whether or not the state is getting a fair price for its crude oil resources.

"A strong case has been made before our committee that the major oil companies are shortchanging the state to the tune of some $50 million-a-year," Cory declared in announcing the Superior Court lawsuit.

Two other major oil companies — Union and Standard — faced possible contempt charges for failing to comply with the subpoena.

Death Toll Dip Laid To Crackdown

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski yesterday attributed the lowest death toll on California's highways in 10 years to "the continuing emphasis on drinking driver enforcement."

Traffic accidents on state highways claimed 45 lives this Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Sixty-two persons were killed during the Thanksgiving holiday last year. The lowest number of fatalities in the last 10 years was 49 in 1964. The highest was 88, recorded in 1970.

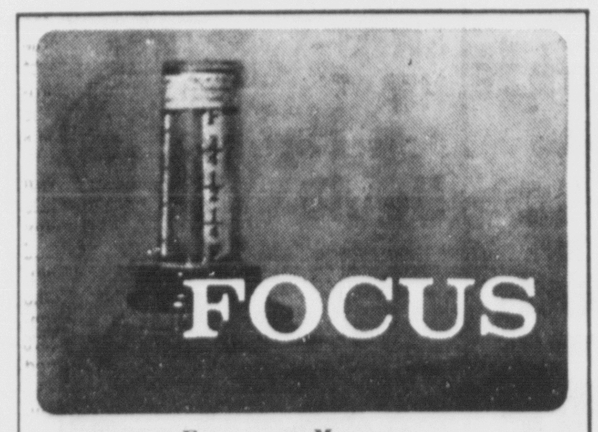
Pudinski declared that the number of drunk driving arrests during this year's holiday increased 60 per cent from last year — up from 1,506 to 2,447.

He said within the Highway Patrol's jurisdiction, there were 18 fatal accidents. Only four of the fatal accidents involved drivers who had been drinking, he said.

Philippine Flood Ruled Calamity

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos today proclaimed a state of calamity in six provinces hit hard by a tropical storm last week.

At least 75 persons died, 12 were injured and 57 others missing by the storm, according to the Philippine National Red Cross.



Emergency Measures

If worst comes to worst this winter and your home fuel tank runs empty, you may turn to some alternative means of heating. The National Safety Council offers some life-saving reminders in case you do: Never close a fireplace damper for the night unless the fire is completely out — a smoldering fire gives off dangerous fumes. Remember — coal or wood fires anywhere but in a properly vented fireplace, stove, or furnace can kill almost as fast as auto exhaust! Heating with an oven is expensive, may damage the oven, and may also be dangerous. If you must use an extension cord with an electric space heater, it should be a heavy duty type.

DO YOU KNOW — What poisonous gas may be given off by improperly ventilated fires?

FIREWOOD GOING FAST

Amid the worsening energy crisis, foreman Maurice Ferrara adds a bundle of firewood to a stack at Clark & Wilkens Co., an establishment in New York City that does a lot of business on Park Avenue. Some 300 bundles were sold yesterday, prompting a company spokesman to remark: "Sales are ridiculous. They're up 300 per cent from last year." (UPI Telephoto)

Loan Pressure By White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional investigator testified today he found evidence of White House pressure to cover up an investigation of a Small Business Administration borrower as well as some financial arrangements involving White House staff members.

Curtis A. Prins, chief investigator for the House Banking Committee, said his office is working on two cases that directly implicate the White House in the SBA investigation before the Small Business subcommittee.

Prins said he found out about one of the cases yesterday afternoon and it is still under investigation.

"I can't tell you a great deal about that case other than to say it involves some financing arrangements that have White House individuals and staff members as participants in the company," Prins said.

Prins said the second case shows that "the White House itself and individuals in the Executive Office Building tried to block the criminal investigation of an SBA borrower" in New York. He said the borrower was subsequently convicted "of 90 some counts of misappropriation of funds."

Prins earlier read memos that he said showed White House pressure on the SBA to guarantee loans to the Benny McRae Construction Co. of Portsmouth, Va., a firm run by a former professional football player who supported President Nixon's campaigns.

Prins read a memo from Thomas Reagan, director of the Richmond, Va., SBA office, to subordinates saying "please get out papers on McRae. This is a White House case and the heat is on." Prins said the word "heat" was underlined twice.

McRae was identified by Prins as a former professional football player with the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants, an adviser to various presidential physical fitness committees and co-chairman of the Athletes for Nixon Committee in 1968 and 1972.

Prins was the first witness before the subcommittee, which is investigating allegations of corruption and poor administrative practices in the SBA. The SBA grants loans and makes loan guarantees to small businesses and minority businesses.

Prins said that the SBA approved two loan guarantees to the McRae company totaling $250,000 on March 28, 1973, but Walter Riley, a loan officer of the Bank of Hampton Roads, refused to disburse the money.

Prins quoted Riley as saying the McRae company was not run in a businesslike manner, that its checks were constantly being returned and that checks were being written when the company had a zero balance.

On June 20, 1973, however, the SBA gave the company a guarantee loan of credit of $100,000 that was drawn on a branch of the Bank of Virginia. That loan is now in default, Prins said.

The company tried a few months ago to get a direct loan of $100,000 from SBA, Prins said. He said two loan officers had turned down the loan, but had received pressure from the central SBA office in Washington to approve it.

Novel Idea For Holiday Gift: Blood

For the person on your Christmas list who has everything, and even for someone that doesn't, the perfect Christmas gift is blood, according to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, which has initiated a "gift certificate" plan this year.

When a pint of blood is donated to the center, the blood bank will issue a gift certificate, entitling the recipient of the donor's choice to a pint of blood for him or a family member for one year.

The certificates may be used anywhere in the country.

The program starts today and runs until New Year's Day.

Dec. 11 — College of Marin, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dec. 13 — Novato Community House, 2 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Blood also may be given at the Marin branch of the center, 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael on Mondays from noon to 6 p.m.; Wednesdays and Fridays, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on Dec. 8, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Skylab 3 Team Takes Pictures Of Barium Cloud Sent Aloft

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 3 astronauts today shot pictures of a huge barium cloud that had been fired into space by scientists seeking new information on how the earth's upper atmosphere both protects and disrupts life below.

Mission pilot Pogue aimed a hand-held camera out the kitchen window of his space house to photograph the barium cloud, fired from the Poker Flats Test Range in Alaska atop a Canadian Black Brant rocket.

Detonated by an explosive charge when it reached an altitude of 350 miles, the radioactive barium collided with radiation from the sun and illuminated the earth's geomagnetic field lines that were surging upward to an altitude of 22,000 miles.

"Got it," was Pogue's comment as he snapped pictures of the lighted lines shooting high over the Pacific Ocean.

Scientists are interested in learning about the magnetic field in the upper atmosphere because it creates an invisible barrier for humans, diverting dangerous solar and cosmic particles.

The charged particles could be lethal to life on earth if they weren't shunted off by the magnetic field. There also is evidence that the magnetic field affects global weather patterns and disrupts world communications. Some researchers believe it even has an effect on man's psychological attitude.

Carr and Pogue were to collect information during the picture taking sweep of earth on snow fields in Colorado and the Sabine National Forest in East Texas. The pass starts over Seattle and ends off the Texas coast in the Gulf of Mexico.

Pogue completed a checkout of the battery of Earth resources equipment yesterday and said the instruments "worked like a champ" and were ready for the first of up to 50 passes.

A Plea Of Innocent To Stolen Property

One of five persons Tiburon police say conducted a "family style" burglary ring pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of possessing stolen property.

Oddie Eugene Jefferes, 28, of 401 Fourth Street, Apartment E, Petaluma, was told by Municipal Court Judge David R. Baty to return to court today for a hearing on reducing his $50,000 bail or releasing him on his own recognizance. Judge Baty appointed the public defender to represent Jefferes and set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 4.

Three other adults in the case, also were arraigned yesterday. Judge Baty appointed private attorneys to represent them, since all said they could not afford to hire their own.

Baty ordered Sherry Linda Munger, 22; her brother, Dennis Jack Munger, 19, and David Wayne Sander, 19, to appear again in court today to enter pleas after conferring with their attorneys. All remained in Marin County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bail each.

San Rafael police arrested Munger and a 17-year-old boy early Saturday, after a burglar alarm sounded at the Country Club Bowl.

Tiburon police arrested Sander in the "family" apartment at 75-B Red Hill Circle on suspicion of also being involved in the San Rafael break-in. Tiburon police returned to the apartment with a search warrant and reported finding an estimated $7,000 worth of loot from recent Tiburon burglaries.

They arrested Miss Munger and Jefferes at that time.

Free Income Tax Preparation.

This week, reserve your private appointment for early Spring preparation of tax returns.

Limited number of openings available at each Citizens office.

Last year, over 7,000 Citizens customers saved an average of over $45 by having their Federal and State individual income tax returns professionally prepared without charge.

If you act this week, Citizens can give you these four important benefits:

First Benefit: Citizens can save you considerable money by arranging for you to have your California and Federal tax returns prepared at no cost. You'll receive a private appointment for your return to be analyzed and completely prepared by a trained tax preparer from the nationwide Mr. Tax organization, who will assist you in taking advantage of every possible legal deduction. All calculations are then double-checked by expert supervisors to insure your receiving maximum tax benefits.

Second Benefit: If you come in now, you'll be able to talk to a Mr. Tax representative, make your appointment, and receive tax tips on things you might do right now that will affect the taxes you'll pay in 1974.

Third Benefit: If you act this week, you'll not only assure yourself a precious appointment (we have only a limited number available . . . when they're filled, that's all there are) . . . you'll also be able to enjoy a host of other important money-saving Citizens services, including free safe deposit box, free checking account, free travel club membership, free travelers checks, free money orders, and more.

Fourth Benefit: If you act this week, you will not only secure a hard-to-get tax preparation appointment, you'll also have a selection of highly profitable savings plans from which to choose. Ask about our Balanced Savings Program. It can provide high yields with maximum flexibility.

So do it now. Just a $5,000 minimum deposit (maximum term 36 months) or participation in the Balanced Savings Program qualifies you for free income tax preparation.

If you have an account you wish to transfer from another institution, we can handle all the details for you. If this account matures in the first quarter of 1974, we can arrange your tax appointment now and transfer your account upon maturity with no loss of interest.

If you are already a Citizens saver, please check with your local office for qualification requirements. We urge you to act now. Visit us right away.

WHEN SHE is not singing soprano at the Metropolitan Opera Company, Judith Blegen helps out at her husband's hobby shop, near their home in Scarsdale, N.Y. Judith stands only 5 feet, 2 inches tall but on the operatic stage stands tall as anyone in the skills of performance.

Rave Notices Written For Diminutive Diva

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — She's five foot two with eyes of blue and has to stretch to manage that height. On the operatic stage, however, she stands tall as anyone in the skills of performance.

Her name: Judith Blegen.

It's also a long stretch for the former cheerleader from Missoula, Mont., (pop. 29,497) to lyric soprano roles at the Met. The diminutive diva is one of the bright new faces with the Metropolitan Opera company and one of the featured singers in its first-time production of the Berlioz opus "Les Troyens".

UPI's Senior Editor Frederick M. Winship, covering the opening night of the opera, called Miss Blegen's performance as the 10-year-old Trojan prince a "delightful impersonation both vocally and dramatically". Miss Blegen put a blond wig over her dark hair for the boy's role.

MISS BLEGEN will continue in the role as the opera is repeated through the Met's winter and spring season. She also will appear in the Met's production of "Der Rosenkavalier" through the season.

Will such heady success on the world-renowned stage go to the head of the girl from the Big Sky country? Hardly.

For one thing, there's another star in the Blegen family—her younger sister, Barbara, a concert pianist. And for another, there is the strong conviction Miss Blegen expresses that she wants a "well rounded life" that leaves some time for husband, Peter, and son, Thomas Christopher.

That is why for the last three years, since the birth of her son, she has sung only with U.S. opera companies including the San Francisco in addition to the Met. She has, however, kept recording dates abroad.

"I just won't fill my calendar completely anymore," said Miss Blegen, in an interview. "I need two or three months each summer to be with my family, to refresh myself, to recharge the energy.

"I THINK that if I don't try to do everything at once, it'll actually prolong my career."

That vocal career for the girl whose father is a surgeon, whose mother a violinist, began in grade school. She recalled that she was her school's cheerleader "because I could yell louder than anybody else."

By the time she was 14, she was a regular with her church choir and "discovered" by the director who noted her ability to sing loud enough to keep the altos on pitch. She also was a promising violinist.

The Blegen sisters studied for five years at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. Judith's opera teacher and mentor was Martial Singher, then a star at the Met.

Singher had a handsome son, Peter, and it was in school that the romance began. When she was graduated from Curtis, she went to Europe on a Fulbright scholarship, studying in Italy and Germany. She worked at the Nuremberg opera, then moved on for more seasoning in Vienna.

Peter Singher got impatient with her wandering around Europe, went after her, married her and brought her back to the United States. Now, her husband runs a hobby shop in Scarsdale, the suburban New York town where the couple live.

JUDITH Blegen, one of the bright new faces with the Metropolitan Opera, is also a violinist. She is a featured singer in the Met's first time production of the Berloiz opus "Les Troyens."

Two Trade Vows In Canada Rites

Evening nuptials Saturday at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Burnaby, B.C., Canada, united in marriage Lynn Eileen Marie Shaflik of Burnaby and Kent Robert Ramsay of Novato.

Mrs. Paul Bourjois was matron of honor for her sister, and Mrs. Paul Shaflik was the bridesmaid.

Stuart Evans Ramsay of Novato served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Lynn's brothers, Paul and Carl Shaflik and Paul Bourjois.

After the ceremony a reception was given at the Crystal Ballroom of the Royal Towers Hotel in New Westminster, B.C.

As a wedding trip the couple will drive from Burnaby to make their home in Bellevue, Neb.

Kent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ramsay of Novato, who flew north Thursday to attend the festivities. Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph P. Shaflik of Burnaby.

She is a graduate of Marion High School for Girls in Vancouver, B.C., and has been employed with an interior decoration firm.

MRS. KENT RAMSAY
(Lynn Shaflik)

Kent was graduated from Novato High School and Heald's Business College. He is a staff sergeant with the Air Force, serving at Offutt Air Force Base as a computer programmer.

Writer Becoming More Militant In Women's Liberation Movement

By EVE SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Jane Howard says she thinks of herself as a moderate feminist, but that wasn't always her view.

"I used to be hesitant," the former magazine writer said in an interview. "I'd say, 'They're so strident, so shrill.' But today I'd certainly cast my weight on the side of the militant rather than the timid feminists. I admire them. The substance of their work is more important than their style. Excessive anger is not the most unforgivable quality."

Miss Howard's change of attitude accompanied a two-year investigation into the lives of women in the United States. She has woven results of her interviews with Chicana women in Tucson and West Virginia craftswomen into a book "A Different Woman," which is a portrait of women and what is on their minds.

"There's a strange new climate in America and women are permitted to be angry, distastefully angry. I found that tastefulness is not as important as many of us used to think.

"After talking with women, I'm convinced the feminist movement isn't transient. There was not a household I visited which was unaware of the phrase 'male chauvinist pig.' There are real changes going on in the fabric of women's lives," Miss Howard said.

A NATIVE of Illinois, the writer lives in New York. A tall woman with brownish-blonde hair, she wears glasses and seems unpretentious about her work.

"The idea of writing a book seemed vague and amorphous to me. Then the death of my mother and the realization that the women's movement was other than a transient joke came as a coincidence of public and private situations that made me think. I wanted to write a book about women, not as a hack journalist, but with some sort of personal concern.

"Our mothers are the last generation to be sure of themselves, have no doubts about what they are, who they are. We will never be defined as they were," she added.

Miss Howard did not intend to write so personal a book.

"I had no notion it would be as revelatory as it is. The editor sort of evoked that out of me, always asking what was going on in my life at that time, who I was traveling with, who I saw. I was reluctant to agree because it meant talking about real people.

"My mother, with whom I never really communicated, was dead and it is possible to speak with more equanimity about the dead than the living. So I changed the names of friends, created composites and scrambled everybody up, rather like fiction. I don't think I've heard the last of that so far, from the friends.

"IN BALANCE, I resent people who think I've written some sort of autobiography. I'm not ready for that," Miss Howard said.

The book, she added, gave her a license to be as nosey as she had always wanted to be about other people's lives.

"I did not realize how very open people would be. I think nobody listens to anybody. People were often stunned to find somebody paying total attention to them. When they had promised 20 minutes of their time, they would extend it for an hour or so, or for an evening," Miss Howard added.

The book was written over a six-month period described by the author as "like riding a wave."

"You have to keep going, get with it and see it through."

Her next project will be something different, specific and in depth.

"Reporters seldom seem to get to see things in depth because of deadlines, and as one grows older, it is more painful to confront that fact," she said.

Women Totally Dominate In Language School Chain

By JAMES O. CLIFFORD

PALO ALTO (UPI) — Did you know that the president of a fast growing chain of language schools is a woman?

That's not such a big deal these days.

But all the district representatives and the 37 directors of the individual schools are also women. And that, surely, must make the Sullivan Language Schools unusual.

"It really just happened by accident," says Karen Mitler, 31, the chain's president.

When the schools first opened in 1970 the president was a man and "we had many men apply for jobs," she said.

"But most of the men wanted to sit behind desks and this is a very people-oriented job," she added.

THE MEN, she said, "didn't work out" because they weren't used to competition from women or didn't want to work for them.

"We also found women were more aggressive because they had to prove themselves," she said while sitting behind a big desk in the firm's headquarters in this university town south of San Francisco.

Mrs. Mitler, married to a psychologist at nearby Stanford University, has a master's degree in language from Michigan State.

"A larger proportion of women get language degrees, and applications for jobs are now running about 3-1 in favor of women," she said.

Mrs. Mitler insists she wouldn't discriminate against a man and "would love to have a man around here" but contends women are better suited for the job.

"WORKING WITH our students is really more of a female job. People need to be treated nicely."

The students come from all walks of life and some study language for travel abroad and others in conjunction with their work.

Bing Crosby's wife, Kathryn, a newswoman as well as an actress, studied German so she could cover the Olympic Games. Actor Richard Crenna was taught French in a matter of weeks for his part in the movie, "The Cop," filmed in France with Catherine DeNeuve.

The schools use a system based on the one devised by linguist Maurice Sullivan — at last, a man — when he was charged with training American officers in German for the Nuremberg trials.

The technique breaks each language down to its simplest components and then systematically introduces and reinforces its sounds and structures.

There is no homework and no rote memorization of vocabulary.

The schools' parent company is Behavioral Research Laboratories, Inc.

"THREE OF the presidents of the five divisions in the corporation are women," Mrs. Mitler said and repeated: "We really would like to have a man around here."

Lisa Talmadge Is Married To Harlan Schoff In Reno

By MOLLY MARIN

Lisa Talmadge and Harlan Schoff were married at Cupid's Arrow Wedding Chapel in Reno, Nev., on Friday.

Lisa is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Talmadge, and Harlan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schoff, all of Novato.

A reception was held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Novato. The couple will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from Redwood High School and is employed at Pacific Telephone Co. in San Francisco. She is the sister of Dolors Huggins of Williams, Ariz.

The bridegroom was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is also employed at Pacific Telephone Co. in San Francisco.

SPANISH AMERICAN fashion designer, Oscar de la Renta, will bring his 1974 spring couture collection for a charity fashion Dec. 6 in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco for the Girls' Town of Italy Roman Holidays luncheon.

Committee members from Marin are Mmes. Lawrence Kim of Belvedere, Jerry Criscuolo of San Rafael, Dexter and Wachter.

RETURNING LAST night from Mazatlan, Mexico, where they spent the Thanksgiving weekend were Cecil Fauver of Tiburon, Mr. and Mrs. George E. McGuire and Bill Hansen.

ON THE AGENDA

Assistance Guild To Operate Thrift Shop As Yule Boutique

Members of the Assistance Guild of Marin have donated handmade Christmas ornaments to the Guild's thrift shop, 175 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, and will open the shop as a Christmas boutique Thursday through Dec. 20.

A one-day workshop for the boutique will be held tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Herbert A. Crocker, 10 Fairway Drive, San Rafael, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. George Sawyer of Tiburon is thrift shop chairman and Mrs. Donald B. Edmondo of San Rafael is Christmas Boutique chairman.

LIVE POTTED cedar trees, plants, pillows, cookbooks and decorative items will be included in the Bargain Box Auxiliary to Sunny Hills booth at the annual Holiday Show 1973 Friday and Saturday at the Novato Community House.

The show will open Friday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

GOOD SHEPHERD Shopping Day, an annual event sponsored by the Sewing Guild of Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley, is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday in the church parish hall.

The sale of handcrafted articles, baked goods, household items and objects of art, will benefit the Good Shepherd Home for Retarded Children in Terra Bella.

Homemade soups, salads and breads will be available at a luncheon and snack bar throughout the day. Luncheon proceeds will benefit the Lutheran Care for the Aging program.

Mmes. Leland Rosevear and Paul Thurston are chairmen; Mmes. Arnold H. Deckman, Rudy Larson, Harvey F. Le Jeune, Peter Jaeger, William Reece, Stanley Scott, Fred Glahn, Harold C. Ball, Arthur Petersen and Miss Bernice Kerrigan.

A SILENT AUCTION will highlight tomorrow's meeting of the Lawyers' Wives of Marin at 11:30 a.m. in the home of Eugenia Sammis, 4 Greenwood Court, Tiburon.

THE MILL Wheelers' Square Dance Club will celebrate its 20th anniversary Friday at 8 p.m. at Almonte Hall in Mill Valley. Jim Mork will be guest caller.

MAYFRED ENGLISH, Grand Arch Druidess of the Grand Circle of California, United Ancient Order of Druids, will visit Larkspur Circle 166 tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in the Italian Athletic Club of Marin Hall, Larkspur.

Lillian Mueller and Mrs. Jeretta Russell are hostesses.

A FINE ARTS auction will be sponsored by the Community Music Center Auxiliary at the California Historical Society, 2090 Jackson Street, San Francisco. Cocktails and a light buffet will be served during the auction preview beginning at 6 p.m.

Marin committee members are Mmes. Craig Johanson of Sausalito, William Lukers of Tiburon, Warren MacDonald of Mill Valley and Terry Ravazzini of San Rafael.

A CHRISTMAS bazaar, presented for the 24th year by Community Projects, Inc. of Napa, will be held Thursday at the Napa Town and Country Fairgrounds Pavilion from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The charity bazaar will include Christmas gifts, antiques, toys and homemade food and candy. Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. and dinner from 5:30 p.m.

Virgin Bride Wants White Gown But Her Betrothed Is Opposed

RAP:

I want to get married in a white gown, veil and orange blossoms, but my guy disagrees because he says the last two show I'm still a virgin, and he doesn't want his friends knowing that after four years of us knowing each other, I still really am.

He's 20 and I'm 16, so I don't think it's such a put-down for him, do you? — WAITING IMPATIENTLY BUT WAITING WIBW:

Heavens no! We think it's great that you're WIBW, and we're all for the veil and orange blossoms, but we wonder if your fiance is mature enough for them.

And, at 16, are you? — HELEN AND SUE

NOTE FROM HELEN: Since a few of you readers will compare my published attitude toward the now-famous "Priscilla," (that 28-year-old virgin I called "Prissy"), with the above reply, my answer in advance:

It's a far cry from an impatient-16 to repressed-28. One knows she's not yet ready, the other is too ready yet with her "No's." — H.

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

You faulted a mother for "snooping" through her daughter's dresser drawers and waste-paper basket. The first, maybe, but the second —well, here's my side:

I am a "snoopy" mother of 12 children, all still home. The entire family knows I check out the wastebaskets, and approves. I've salvaged enough loot from them to make them all grateful for the final go-through.

Car keys, deodorant, fingernail polish, panty hose, are just a few of the items that find their way to the wastebaskets accidentally.

The clincher came when I found my daughter's expensive wristwatch in her wastebasket. It had fallen from her desk when she put her books down.

Our children are instructed to throw very personal stuff in the fireplace or kitchen trash. They are ever so grateful for a — SNOOPY MOM

DEAR MOM:

Thanks for catching us up. We should have said, "Wastebasket-check is only snooping when a parent makes like the CIA. Otherwise it can be helpful." — SUE

NOTE TO SUE: Glad you said that . . . I found one of my scarves in your wastebasket the other day — and as long as we have a pack-rat dog, I'll continue to "snoop." (But don't worry — I'll never read your throwaways.) — HELEN

RAP:

I'm 15. My sister is six years younger. When I go out with my boyfriend (who is well liked by my parents) and I'm 10 or 15 minutes late, I get punished. But when my sister is half an hour late from playing, nobody cares.

I asked Mom why me, and not her, and she said, "If Ann was out with a boy, she'd get grounded for being late."

Seems to me late is late, and we both should be either punished or not punished, right? — T.R.

T.:

Right! But since your parents are new at teen-age dates,and used to pre-teen play, why not watch the time more closely? It would reassure them. — HELEN

T.:

Here's an idea that worked at our house. I'd tell my folks approximately what time the party or whatever would be over, get a lenient limit from them and then be home five or ten minutes early. Makes a terrific impression, and keeps Dad from pacing the floor. — SUE

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Master Bedroom Converted Into Great Room For Kids

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY
Distributed by General Features Corp.

After visiting and photographing houses for a dozen or more years, I believe I can almost predict how rooms and possessions are organized in an unfamiliar house.

Houses and families fall into patterns of behavior and use. Invariably the largest bedroom is called the "master bedroom." Guess that's because the "master" is considered the big man on the home front. Actually, observation convinces me that there's more space wasted in these "master suites" than any other area of today's housing.

The masters and mistresses who are occupying these suites don't use them enough hours in the day to warrant their keeping all that precious space in isolation. It would be far better if young family-types designated the prestigious spot for the use of their offspring.

THE ROOM SHOWN today is the result of just such a young couple's decision. Both of the adults worked during the daytime. They had a retired neighbor who was willing to "sit" in their home during those hours when the children needed supervision — 2:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The youngsters' room was just big enough for twin beds and chests, not expansive enough for game-playing or homework sessions. The parents' room was fairly grand, but they found they were only using it just for seven or eight hours of sleep. Since it also had the nicest relationship to their pocket-size garden, it seemed a brilliant decision to swap rooms with the girls.

WITH THE extra space for the youngsters, they were able to create a warm, carpeted area for sleeping and a crisp, vinyl tile-covered area for other activities. Twin desks were installed in back of semipartitions which act as headboards for the girls' beds. Fabrics made the greatest contribution to the festive look of this new bedroom. Delicate Glosheen fabric with an overall floral print makes the room really feminine. Called "Camille," it comes in 45-inch widths and is 100 per cent cotton — a rare find these days at about $4.50 a yard.

Their storage chests were given a new white paint job with touches of lavender and lime trim. Even window shades and divider shades were covered in the pert floral print.

How have the parents fared? They like the intimacy of their smaller bedroom and have converted the nearby den into a late-night sitting room for additional privacy.

NO SHORTAGE OF SKIERS

Skiers and cars abounded at Squaw Valley over the long Thanksgiving holiday as record crowds flocked to the Sierra ski resort apparently unhampered by the gasoline shortage. The scene may shortly change, however, if Congress enacts "energy crisis" legislation proposed by President Nixon which would prohibit the sale of gas from 9 p.m. Saturday to 12:01 a.m. Monday.

'Skimming' Trial Ends As Guilty Pleas Made

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Five Tenderloin night life figures, including three Marin residents and a Rohnert Park man, yesterday quickly ended their "skimming" trial by pleading guilty to income tax evasion charges.

The five were then sentenced by Judge William T. Swigert of U.S. District Court in a plea bargain which had been worked out by attorneys.

Defendants in the case, in which the government had charged that the men had conspired to evade more than $800,000 in taxes, were Ron London, 40, of Tamalpais Valley; Nicholas Guercio, 46, also of Tamalpais Valley; George Mountanous, 57, of Fairfax; Stephen P. Moses, 29, of Rohnert Park, and Milton Goldman, 60, of San Francisco.

All will go to jail except Mountanos, brother of Marin County Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, who was said by federal agents to be the least involved in the scheme and who had never been arrested before this incident.

The men still face civil charges in connection with the back taxes, estimated to be about $845,000.

A sixth man, attorney Harry Wainwright, is still charged in connection with the case and is believed to have fled to Australia. His brother-in-law, Milton Mohr, 42, of Kent Woodlands, was earlier charged but the case against him has been dismissed.

During the trial in district court, which had run about three weeks before the guilty pleas yesterday, it was testified that the five, who operated various legal and illegal bars in San Francisco, had carried out a complicated scheme to avoid taxes.

They had "skimmed" off most of their illicit money by tearing off cash register tapes at the end of the day shifts in seven bars and then reported only the proceeds of the evening hours.

The "skimmed" money was packaged with the day-shift tapes and the conspirators met regularly to divide the spoils.

Yesterday the chief prosecutor, Gerard Hinckley of the justice department strike force in San Francisco, told the court the trial probably would go on for another three weeks and even then, it would be difficult to prove the "exact extent" of the five's illegal activities.

As a result, each defendant was allowed to plead guilty to one of the charges against him.

London pleaded guilty to income tax evasion in 1967, a year in which he reported an income of $2,700 and paid no taxes but actually earned $93,288.

Judge Swigert sentenced London to one year in jail and fined him $5,000.

Guercio, Moses and Goldman, each were given six months jail sentences and fined $2,500. The jail sentences were stayed until Dec. 26.

Mountanos, said to have severed his ties with the group, was given a suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for a year.

All of the bars operated by the men earlier lost their liquor licenses because of "B-girl" activities, according to a Justice Department spokesman. Some are now being operated as "nude encounter" establishments and others as "water holes," he said, and some are closed.

The bars involved were the Dopo XII, Coffee Ron's, Jet Set, The Mocambo, Dark Room, Black Hawk and Bourbon Street.

Carpenters Ask Union Work Rule

Local carpenters are demanding that their union decide whether the men are to accept jobs until a pay dispute is settled.

Since the union has set no policy on the matter, carpenters are under pressure from their colleagues not to work until the pay hassle is resolved, the Independent-Journal learned today.

One man, who asked to remain anonymous, reported 10 jobs were announced this morning at the Local 35 union hall in San Rafael and men were sent out on them. "The business agent (James Adrian) told the men to decide whether they wanted to work once they got to the jobs," the carpenter said.

He said other carpenters urged those who went out not to work and demanded the union set a policy to decide whether the men should work until the carpenters get the pay raises they are seeking.

Absence of a firm policy was said to have created resentment and bitterness among the men and they have asked union officials to take a stand.

Adrain could not be reached for comment.

The fight is over a three-year-old contract under which the carpenters were due a 65-cent hourly raise last June 16. The construction Industry Stabilization Committee ordered the raise limited to 15 cents and the union has filed suit against the pay board.

In protest of the ruling, many carpenters walked off the job earlier this month. The Associated General Contractors of Northern California won a court order Nov. 16 ordering the carpenters to continue working.

Marr Wins Engineer Union Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dale Marr, running on an "administration slate," has won a bitterly contested, government-supervised election to determine the leadership of the Operating Engineers Union Local 3.

Marr, 57, of nearby Pacifica, polled 6,072 votes and won election yesterday as business manager of the local which has 35,000 members in four states and whose members are construction equipment operators.

Marr, formerly the local's vice president, had been picked as his successor as business manager by Alton M. (Al Clem, 69, who resigned when the US Labor Department demanded a re-run of last year's election because of balloting irregularities.

In second was Norris Casey, 49, who received 131 fewer votes.

It was Casey's challenge of the last election that led to ballot supervision this time by the National Labor Relations Board.

Martin Casey got 969 votes and Paul Edgecombe 3,762.

Other "administration slate" candidates who won were Harold Huston, Marysville, president; Bob Mayfield, San Jose, vice president; James (Red) Ivy, San Francisco, recording secretary; and Harold J. Lewis, Hawaii, financial secretary.

Don Kinchloe, who was on Edgecombe's slate, was re-elected treasurer.

Norris Casey was ruled the loser by a union election board in balloting 15 months ago in his effort to unseat Clem, 69. But Casey complained of "dirty tricks" and election irregularities to the labor department.

The department sustained Casey's claims that union officials had cast members' ballots for them in Hawaii, that ballots were received from Guam members who later claimed they never voted, and that there had been a "blackout" on Casey's candidacy in the union's publications.

Casey charged the challenged ballots should never have been counted under union by-laws. Had they been thrown out, Casey would have ousted Clem 3,432-6,104. Instead, Clem won 7,568-6,661.

Two Armed Robbers Take $597 In Cash

Two robbers armed with a revolver entered an unlocked San Rafael residence at 8:30 p.m. yesterday and took $597 in cash from its occupants.

According to San Rafael police, the robbers entered the home of Hunter Robert Austin, 18, of 230 Marin Street, and forced him and two companions to lie down on the floor.

The robbers took $17 in cash from Austin and $580 in cash from a companion, Joseph Anthony Desants, 24, of 66 Manor Drive, Fairfax. The third person, Jane Alexander, age and address not known, left prior to arrival of police.

One robber, the one with the .22 caliber revolver, was described as black, 25 years of age, six feet one-inch tall, weighing 180 pounds, with short hair and a thin moustache. He was wearing a green jacket, blue pants and black gloves.

The other was described as white, 25 years old, six feet, two-inches tall weighing 220 pounds. He was wearing a soft white hat, white trench coat and had a black scarf over his face.

Seven Seek Job Left By Firing Of Lunding

Seven residents have applied for appointment to the San Rafael Planning Commission seat vacated last week when the city council ousted Jorgen V. Lunding.

Deadline for filing applications is 4 p.m. Thursday in city hall.

The seven applicants for Lunding's seat were unsuccessful candidates for appointment to the commission last June, when John A. Starkweather was tapped to fill the seat of Thomas R. O'Toole, whose term expired.

Applicants are:

A. Clyde Jones, 44, of 133 Convent Court, president of Rafael Floor Covering; Robert H. Caro, 32, of 1052 Los Gamos Road, owner of Caro Realty and president of the Terra Linda Gardens Homeowners Association; Richard C. Fox, 45, of 127 Humboldt Street, a senior research chemist for Standard Oil Co.; James D. Mahoney, 43, of 5 Sierra Circle, president of Mahoney Steel; Donn E. Nissen, 46, of 607 Tamarack Drive, president of the Terra Linda Homeowners Association; Richard P. Rodrigues, 47, of 10 Clark Street, chairman of the city's citizens advisory committee, and Steven Thomas, 31, of 1680 Grand Avenue, a newspaper distributor.

The city council fired Lunding for his repeated efforts to alter the course of the city's emerging general plan.

Councilmen will consider the vacancy at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Woman To Run For Secretary Of State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrat Cathy O'Neill, a homemaker and university lecturer, today announced her candidacy to become the first woman secretary of state in California history.

At the first of a series of news conferences around the state, Mrs. O'Neill pledged to work for public financing of political campaigns and to seek legislation creating an independent "special prosecutor" to enforce election laws.

The 31-year-old mother of two children became the first contender of either party to formally announce her candidacy for the office currently held by Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. He is expected to run for governor.

Mrs. O'Neill, a lecturer at the University of Southern California's Center for Urban Affairs, was narrowly defeated last year in a bid for the state Senate seat held by Republican Robert Stevens.

"Since the secretary of state at the present has no power to prosecute, we need a nonpartisan special prosecutor to put some teeth into our fight to clean up the election process," Mrs. O'Neill said.

Under questioning, she said local district attorneys are "tremendously overburdened" with other work and the task of prosecuting election law violators should be taken out of the "partisan" attorney general's office.

She said she would "reconsider" her decision to run for secretary of state if Brown decided to run for a second term. She said she considered this highly unlikely.

Oil Crisis End Linked To Arab-Israeli Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today indicated to leaders of Congress that he expects no loosening of the Arab oil embargo until some progress takes place in Arab-Israeli peace talks.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reviewed the Middle East peace situation and the energy crisis with 21 senators and House members at a meeting in the White House Cabinet Room that lasted nearly two hours.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters afterwards that the question of the lifting of the embargo by the oil-producing states in the Arab world "depends on the progress of negotiations as the peace conference hopefully gets under way."

Arab and Israel representatives are expected to meet in Geneva Dec. 17-18 under United Nations auspices to start peace negotiations.

Fulbright said that in the long term, the United States has resources of its own which it can develop to meet its energy needs.

But he added, "in the short term, it's very difficult."

The Arkansas Democrat said the bleak outlook applied even more to Europe and Japan which are so more dependent on the Middle East for their fuel supplies.

In other aspects of the energy crisis:

The President's top energy adviser, John A. Love, testified at a Senate hearing that higher prices —not more tax breaks — should be allowed to induce industry to find sources of energy the nation needs.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, who previously had indicated gasoline rationing was around the corner, said he now believes "there is a good chance" it will not be necessary.

The Baltimore Sun said among additional steps being considered to conserve fuels of various types are a four-day school week, reducing weekday hours for gasoline sales, a surtax on consumption of electric power and closing national parks to private cars.

The Washington Star-News said an additional 10 per cent cutback in gasoline supplies may be imposed.

The moon is between the new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

American historian Charles Beard was born Nov. 27, 1874.

On this day in history:

In 1901, the War Department authorized creation of the Army War College to instruct commissioned officers.

In 1945, President Truman named Gen. George Marshall special representative to China.

In 1956, President Eisenhower issued a statement denying differences over the Suez Canal had weakened American-British-French accord over NATO.

In 1962, all 97 persons aboard a U.S.-bound jet were killed when it crashed in Peru.

A thought for the day: British author Rudyard Kipling said, "The silliest woman can manage a clever man, but it needs a very clever woman to manage a fool."

Fuel Lack Cuts Last Ferry Run

A shortage of diesel fuel has forced elimination of the last weekday run of the Sausalito ferry, effective Dec. 26 unless the shortage becomes so acute the run will have to be cut sooner.

The change will mean the last ferry from San Francisco will be at 8:10 p.m. instead of a 9:25 p.m. The run departs Sausalito at 8:50 p.m.

Golden Gate Bridge District officials said they will try to stretch the fuel supply to keep the round trip operating during the Christmas shopping season. The run was added last April, but since fuel allocations are based on operations running last November it cannot qualify for fuel, a district spokesman said.

Bidding In Three Suits Could Show A Singleton

Many bridge players have mastered the art of bidding a slam when they have overwhelming strength in high cards. It isn't quite so easy to bid a good slam that depends largely on distribution instead of high cards.

NOT INTERESTED

In today's hand North was only mildly interested when South opened with one club, since North's singleton in his partner's suit was not really as asset. When South bid spades later on, North considered bidding toward a slam.

The question was whether the singleton club had become an asset after all. If South had several top clubs and rather weak spades, the slam would be a poor gamble. But if South had strong spades and weak clubs, the slam would be a very good bet.

JUMP BID

North shows his distribution by making a jump bid in a new suit and then raising spades. A player who bids three suits, with a jump bid at some state, shows a singleton in the fourth suit. What's more, he guarantees the ace in his secondary side suit (diamonds in this case).

Given this information, South is eager to bid the slam in spades. He knows that his partner has a good heart suit, the ace of diamonds, excellent support for spades and a singleton in clubs. What else does he need for slam?

NO PROBLEM

There is no problem in the play of the cards. Dummy wins the first trick with the seven of spades, and declarer cashes the top hearts. When these get by, South ruffs a heart with the ace of trumps, enters dummy with the ace of diamonds and ruffs another heart with the king of trumps. The jack of spades is led and overtaken in dummy, and trumps are drawn. Dummy then has a good heart and only one small diamond is lost.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you have opened with one club and partner has bid one spade. The opponents pass constantly, and it is up to you again.

♠ - A K J 5
♥ - 8 3
♦ - K 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades.

Nixon Energy Policy Wins Support From All Sources

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has won widespread support for his energy savings plans both from the government and Congress, but some voices—concerned with their economic impact— are being raised against the measures.

At the same time, Speaker Carl Albert indicated the House would act within the next two weeks to give the President most of the authority he has requested to implement his energy saving proposals.

Arch Booth, head of the US Chamber of Commerce, said Nixon's proposals were "good." However, he also said there were actions Nixon could take immediately "to increase sorely needed energy supplies.

But a leader of the building trades industry said the energy shortage had already had a dramatic impact on the industry and mandatory fuel allocations could bring construction to a standstill by the end of winter.

"Construction activity in this country is already down 20 per cent," said Nello L. Terr, president of the Associated General Contractors of America. "If the present fuel allocation programs are not altered quickly, the economic impact on the construction industry may reach catastrophic proportions before the end of winter."

Nixon, resisting rationing, told the Seafarers Union convention yesterday"...our goal is not to go back" to a World War II ratioining system. "Our goal is to go forward."

"We want to be in a position so nobody can cut our lifeline," he said.

But Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said he thinks "we are coming to rationing eventually..." He said, however, Nixon's proposals should be given a fair chance to see if they work.

And Scott's Democratic counterpart, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said Nixon's proposals were only a "small step forward," adding that rationing was the only measure strong enough to cope with the problem. He also voiced the fear a serious economic recession might develop if rationing is not instituted.

$1 Million In Ransom Is Offered For Getty

ROME (UPI) — The father of J. Paul Getty III offered $1 million last night for the return of the missing youth, but the teen-ager's billionaire grandfather refused to pay a cent.

Mrs. Gail Harris, mother of the 17-year-old youth, announced the offer and attacked oil billionaire J. Paul Getty for remaining "fixed in his loveless, old man's arid solitude."

In an open letter to the alleged kidnapers of her son, Mrs. Harris said her exhusband had agreed to pay $1 million provided she give him custody of her other three children.

A spokesman for the father in London confirmed he would pay the money, but said the offer was made without any strings attached.

Mrs. Harris said she couldn't raise all of the $3.4 million ransom demanded by the youth's alleged kidnapers because the billionaire was "petrified and not warmed by love."

"I no longer feel hatred or rage, only pity," she said. "Pity for my Paul who is so alone, his beloved face mutilated."

She said she was even sorry for the youth's grandfather because "his declining life is without love."

Getty, reportedly the world's richest man, has said through a spokesman he would not pay any ransom, because it would encourage others to kidnap other of his grandchildren.

Young Getty disappeared last July 9 and subsequent letters said he had been kidnaped. At that time, some of the youth's friends expressed skepticism about the kidnaping, saying the youth might have staged his own disappearance.

Performances Of 'Amahl' Are Set

The Christmas season production of the Mill Valley Center for the performing arts will be "Amahl and the Night Visitors" by Gian-Carlo Menotti.

Performances will begin Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Mill Valley Golf Course clubhouse on Buena Vista Avenue.

There will be additional performances at 3 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 8 and 15, and a 3 p.m. matinee Dec. 9.

The leading role of Amahl will be played by Ian Brown, with Jan Luergan as his mother, Neal Rogers as King Kasper, Ray Acevedo as King Melchio, Dan Saunders as King Balthazar and Jay Morris as a page.

Produced by Will Marchetti and directed by Robert Bush, the play will feature musical accompaniment by Mile Slaughter at the piano and Toni Roysten on the flute.

Marin Girl Second To Miss California

Francesca Cresci of San Anselmo has been named first runnerup in the Miss California contest.

Miss Cresci of 36 Rosemont Avenue was one of nine finalists competing Saturday in the prelude to the Miss World contest in Los Angeles.

"It was a pretty good contest," said the 20-year-old secretary with the San Rafael Planning Department, "it was done very well."

Miss Cresci, who has also held the Miss Cable Car and Miss San Francisco titles, said she had a good time during her five days in Los Angeles. "It was a good experience," she said, "I'm happy I went."

Miss Cresci said that the winner from El Monte in Los Angeles County, Gale Andrea Gorrell, was the "right girl; she deserved it."

Miss Cresci, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Catazaro, said prizes had not yet been announced.

Impeachment Of Nixon Urged By Djordjevich

If congressional leaders "stand on principles," he told the Independent-Journal, Nixon surely will be removed from office.

But in no case, he said, should the President resign. Asserting mob pressures drove Johnson out of office, Djordjevich said the nation's political fabric could not stand having "a second president driven out of office."

The insurance company executive, now area governor for the United Republicans of California, scored congressional leaders for "followship, not leadership. They are weakling politicians who have no guts to do anything but put their finger in the air and see how feeling is going," he said.

Hearing Opens On Record Piracy

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Singer Paul Simon, formerly of Simon and Garfunkel, yesterday began an open-ended engagement at circuit court here as a witness in a lawsuit concerning alleged piracy of records and tapes.

He appeared on behalf of nine of the nation's top recording firms in their suit against Economic Consultants of Brookfield, a Milwaukee suburb. The companies allege that Economic Consultants tape-recorded without permission records made by other companies.

"I think I'm being cheated," said Simon, 32. "It's totally unfair. I've been very successful and Columbia (Columbia Records) has treated me fairly and I don't choose to share my success with others. I feel a certain loyalty to Columbia."

THE THINKING MAN'S DIET

Of foodstuffs there are three basic varieties. Spiritual food, intellectual food and the biochemical food needed to fuel all parts of the body. For both spiritual and intellectual feeding we have been admonished: "Whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report think ye on these things." With the above can we then get involved with politics? God forbid! Government, yes! Government has to do with law and order for the universe and for our personal lives. Our concern for public office is in direct proportion to our concern for what occupies the office. Persons indifferent to the keeping of law are careless about official administration and sometimes obtain a "pig rule". Those who eat properly of well prepared foods do not require food supplementation, others require additions to the diet in terms of protein, minerals and vitamins. Some of the most widely advertised "One A Day" supplements for children and adults are little more than saccharin coated placebos. The consumer, therefore, owes it to himself to become nutrition conscious and a label reader to obtain supplements with meaningful potencies. The right to nourish oursleves spiritually intellectually or physically should not be permitted to be taken away from us by some callous, shallow immoral official.

As nutritionists all, we should impeach pig rule and put the pigs in the pokey where they properly belong.

Should we not see you during the holidays, a white christmas and purple ketostix to all.

Detained Cuban Visitors Home Free With A Laugh

BARTOW, Fla. (UPI) — A scuba diving expedition detained in Cuba for five days paid an $11,000 "repair bill" on their chartered plane and flew home early today before Cuban authorities were aware the jet once belonged to the late dictator Fulgencio Batista and had a former U.S. spy pilot at the controls.

The 14 scuba divers and two crewmen of the twin-engine Lockheed Lodestar landed in a fog at 5:15 a. m. EST after a brief stopover at West Palm Beach to clear customs and refuel.

The group was greeted by 30 relatives and friends who raised the money to pay for the release of the plane which made a forced landing in Cuba Thanksgiving day while on a flight to the Cayman Islands for a scuba diving outing.

The pilot of the plane, retired Air Force Col. Al Hichew, 48, of Lakeland, Fla., said he was "misled" over Cuba by the Havana control tower and then ordered to land under threat of two MIG fighters.

"There's no doubt in my mind that they meant business," said Hichew, a former wing commander of the Strategic Air Command.

Hichew, 48, who retired in July and was making his first charter flight, said the Cubans may have been sensitive because of a visit from the premier of Bulgaria on Thanksgiving Day.

Hichew said the Americans

AL HICHEW
'Misled' over Cuba

were interrogated and then lodged in a hotel.

"We were treated well and went skin diving one time," he said.

Cuban officials demanded $11,000 for "repairs" to the plane and room and board for the 16 Americans. C. Norris Bryan, head of the charter firm which arranged the trip, said around $7,800 was raised in cash and pledges. Five businessmen in nearby Winter Haven, home of most of the divers, signed a promissory note for the balance of the $11,000. The money was cabled by the State Department to the Swiss Embassy in Havana late last night.

Dr. Victor Vaile, husband of one of the divers, said Cuban authorities had warned that if the money wasn't paid by today "there would be an additional charge of between $20 and $100 a day per person for room and board, or about $1,500 total."

The Cuban government released the plane without knowing Hichew's background or that the plane once was the personal jet of Batista, the Cuban dictator overthrown by Fidel Castro.

"If they had checked the original log books, still in the plane, they would have found that it once belonged to Batista, but they didn't," said a spokesman for the charter group.

Candidate Sets Marin Speech

Assemblyman March K. Fong, D-Oakland, who has said she probably will run next year for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state, will speak in Marin on Dec. 8.

The fund-raising reception to benefit the Democratic Women of Marin will be held from 5 to 7:30 p.m. at the Tiburon home of A. Barsimanto, 1 Tara Hill Road.

Tickets are being handled by Mrs. Ruth L. Lederman of Kentfield, cochairman of the organization, and Mrs. Robert W. Essig of San Anselmo.

Horse Is Killed On Highway 101

Novato police said the vehicle was southbound on the highway about 4:13 a.m. when the animal ran in front of it. The horse, which died in the collision, was owned by the C Bar N Ranch near Novato, according to officers.

The accident caused heavy damage to the truck's front end and it had to be towed off the highway, police said.

Commissary Opening Is Scheduled Dec. 6

Packer Miscues Aid 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers, blessed by perfect weather and timely Green Bay mistakes, pulled out of the four-week slide which took them to National Football League oblivion.

"I feel like we've just won the Super Bowl," tight end Ted Kwalick said after last night's 20-6 nationally televised victory over the Packers, illustrating just how bad things had become.

But 49ers' coach Dick Nolan attributed the victory to good defense, a strong running attack led by Vic Washington and some timely late passing by Steve Spurrier. The team produced 268 yards on offense and suffered just one turnover in breaking its four-game losing streak.

"The weather conditions were perfect for passing," said Spurrier, as if apologizing for his 20-yard fourth period touchdown pass to Kwalick which put the 49ers safely ahead, 17-6.

Despite the calm weather, something Candlestick Park ballclubs and fans pray for and seldom get, the 49ers' offense chose to stay mainly on the ground. Spurrier's touchdown pass was just the sixth San Francisco completion of the night.

Rookie Joe Reed, who moved ahead of Spurrier and 38-year-old John Brodie in the quarterback picture three weeks ago, completed just five of 16 passes for 44 yards before leaving with a pulled groin muscle.

Washington rushed for 94 yards, scored the game's first touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the second period and added a 37-yard kickoff return. Fullback Ken Willard had 55 of the team's season-high 174 rushing yards.

But it was too late to make much difference this season. The 49ers, winners of the Western Division of the National Football Conference the past three seasons, are 4-7 now and tied for third with New Orleans.

The Packers, Central Division winners last season, fell to 3-6-2 and remained third.

"It's frustrating when you think you gave all you got and it isn't enough," said their young quarterback Jerry Tagge, who threw two passes which 49ers' linebacker Dave Wilcox intercepted.

TOUCHDOWN — San Francisco 49ers' running back Vic Washington scored a second quarter touchdown from the one yard line last night, breaking a tackle by Green Bay Packers' defensive back Al Matthews in the process. San Francisco running back Doug Cunningham (42) did a headstand while blocking for Washington at Candlestick Park. The 49ers won, 20-6.

Pack Not Back; 49ers Might Be

Perhaps it wasn't a thing of beauty but it doesn't matter. The 49ers broke that miserable four-game losing streak last night when they beat the Packers, 20-6, and for one of those rare times this season, there was happiness in the team's dressing room.

Heads weren't hanging. Players weren't trudging from shower to dressing stall with the look of the defeated. There wasn't any big celebration, but there was a feeling that all was not hopeless. The Pack might not be back for awhile, but the 49ers might be.

Taking in the situation very calmly was grizzled veteran Charlie Krueger. As most of the players were hurriedly showering and dressing, Charlie, a 36-year-old man who has been slugging it out in pro football's front line for 15 seasons, sat there on a stool in front of his dressing cubicle taking things easy.

Will this be the last year for the wise old 49er defensive tackle? With a straight face, Krueger answered with tongue in cheek, "At my age I start thinking about it. There will be a proper time to make any announcement about retirement. That's all I can say about it at this time."

IT'S AS SIMPLE as that. Charlie won't say it, but the speculation remains that this will be his last season. The only man on the team older than Charlie is John Brodie, 38, and he has already announced his retirement effective at the end of the season.

Quarterback Joe Reed didn't have much to sing about after his performance. He completed only five of 16 passes and the only touchdown made when he was in the game was more because of Green Bay penalties than the 49er offense. He gave way to Steve Spurrier in the fourth quarter after suffering a groin muscle pull.

"I could have continued, but I told the coach about the injury and he made the change," Reed said. Forty-Niner head coach Dick Nolan admitted after the game he was considering making a quarterback change even before the injury. But the groin pull made up Nolan's mind for him.

"I was happy the way I mixed up my running plays," Reed said, trying to keep the conversation on an optimistic keel. "I matured a little bit by not taking a lot of chances when we had the ball deep in our own territory. My passing? I couldn't be happy about completing only five passes out of 16 tries. I am not going to worry about statistics. I am not going to dwell on it. I will try to do better the next time I'm out there."

ALL-STAR linebacker Dave Wilcox had more reason to smile. He was given a game ball by his mates for his two key interceptions. Another game ball went to running back Vic Washington who gained 94 yards in a surprisingly strong 49er running game.

Wilcox had to answer the question perhaps a half dozen times: Have you intercepted two passes in a game before? "I intercepted two against Atlanta. . . it was either '68 or '69. Those two tonight were my first interceptions since training camp."

His first interception was a clean catch, and the second one was tipped in the air and snatched with the speed of a wide receiver. "I tipped it first and then Mel (Phillips) tipped it and then I caught

Honor Won By Adams And Bollen

Fred Adams of Tamalpais High School and Bruce Bollen of Terra Linda yesterday were chosen Marin County's scholar-athlete award winners for 1973 and will be honored with other Bay Area winners next month in San Francisco.

The banquet, put on by the San Francisco Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, will be held Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel.

Bollen, a lineman, carries a perfect 4.0 grade average and was captain of the 1973 football team. He was all-league on defense in 1972 and on both offense and defense in 1973. He was also a student council representative, president of the student body, and "a leader and citizen about the school and away," according to George Corson, commissioner of the Marin County Athletic League who made the announcement.

Adams, a running back, carries a 3.53 grade average. He was honorable mention all-

Talk On Bay Winds Scheduled Tomorrow

A lecture about the surface wind patterns of San Francisco Bay, intended for sailors and persons interested in sailing, will be given tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the multimedia room of the Mill Valley Middle School, 425 Sycamore Avenue at Camino Alto.

Jeanne Nooney of Mill Valley, a sailing teacher with a dozen years experience, will give the lecture, entitled "The Pacific's Terrific Weather Machine." A time-lapse film about the formation of the Bay will be shown.

Redwood Grad Wickert On West Shrine Team

By LEW CODDINGTON

For a fellow who was limping around in a cast six months ago, Tom Wickert has done all right.

The former Redwood High School football star, now an offensive tackle at Washington State University, yesterday was named to the West squad for the 49th annual Shrine East-West All-Star game, scheduled Dec. 29 at Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

"I'm really happy," said Wickert by telephone this morning from Pullman, Wash. "I was hopin', but I really didn't expect it. It's a good charity game, and I'll get a chance to play with some pretty good players."

Wickert also is happy about the flock of pro scouts which usually hovers around the game. "I'm hoping to continue in football," he said. "I've talked to quite a few scouts — some seemed pretty enthusiastic, but they really can't say anything yet. I've also talked to a couple of people from Canada — I'm considering them, too."

TOM WICKERT
'I'm happy'

Six months ago, the only thing the 6-foot-5, 240-pounder was considering was the wreckage done to his knee in Washington State's annual spring football game. "I tore a ligament, and they operated in May," he said. "I went home for a month when the cast was on, and then I came back up to Pullman and worked with the trainer, Dick Melhart. He helped me get ready for opening day.

"I wear a special brace on it. It really helps give me confidence, and it doesn't hurt my mobility. And it works — I got hit in one game, and it just put a big dent in the brace."

Wickert, now 21, was an all-league offensive tackle and also played defensive end for Redwood in 1969. He is the first Redwood player to start in the Pacific-8 and the first to make the Shrine game, according to his father, Henry, of Greenbrae, himself a former offensive guard for Cornell University.

Tom played defensive end as a freshman and started as a sophomore, but was moved to

Rookie Of Year Matthews Not Well Known, But Giants Hopeful

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gary Matthews isn't exactly a household name yet but the San Francisco Giants think he has the potential to be one some day.

Matthews, who was worried about just making the club in spring training, achieved the first pinnacle on his way to widespread recognition by the fans yesterday when he was named the National League's rookie-of-the-year award by a landslide margin.

Despite an outstanding season which included a .300 average and 17 stolen bases, Matthews didn't capture that much attention this season because Bobby Bonds had such a super season for the Giants and most of the publicity the club received was focused on him.

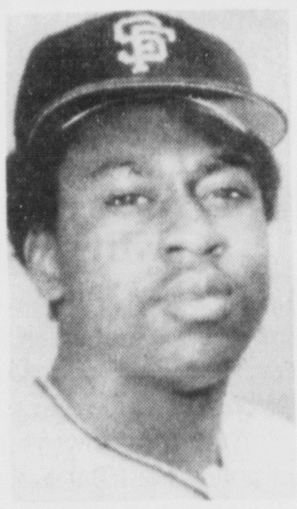
In the balloting of the Baseball Writers Association of America, Matthews received 11 votes to 3 1-2 for Montreal pitcher Steve Rogers. The 24 writers—two in each league city—were allowed to vote for only one player but one voter split his ballot with one-half vote each for Rogers and Pittsburgh's Richie Zisk.

The 24 votes were spread among nine players as Matthews was the only player who gained widespread support. Following Matthews and Rogers were Bob Boone of Philadelphia, Elias Sosa of San Francisco and Dan Driessen of Cincinnati with two votes, Ron Cey and Dave Lopes of Los Angeles and Johnny Grubb of San Diego with one vote and Zisk with his one-half ballot.



GARY MATTHEWS
First pinnacle

Matthews, the Giants' No. 1 choice in June of 1968, finished 10th among NL batters this season and was regarded as one of the top all-around offensive threats in the league. The 6-foot-2, 205-pound Matthews collected 162 hits, including 22 doubles, 10 triples and 12 homers besides knocking in 58 runs.

"He fools you because of his size," says manager Charlie Fox, "but once he gets rolling, he is as fast as Bonds and Maddox. That's another reason why he doesn't have to think about hitting long. With his speed, he beats out a lot of balls hit into the holes and stretches singles into doubles."

Although he hit .313 with 21 homers and 108 runs-batted-in at Phoenix in the Pacific Coast League last season, Matthews was uncertain whether the Giants would keep him on the roster this spring.

Matthews, a righthanded hitter, was platooned with the lefthanded Thomasson for the first month of the season but on May 6, Fox decided to go with Matthews. He was in the lineup to stay except in June when he was sidelined for a couple of games with a sprained wrist.

Giant coach Andy Gilbert, who managed Matthews at Amarillo in 1971, said his willingness to learn was a major factor in his quick development.

"He listens to what you tell him," Gilbert says, "He catches on quickly."

Matthews is the fourth Giant to win the NL rookie-of-the-year award. The others were Willie Mays (1951), Orlando Cepeda (1958) and Willie McCovey (1959). These three players went on to win the NL MVP award (although Cepeda won it with the Cards) so Matthews has quite a legacy to follow.

Syracuse Picks Coach Maloney

Combined AP & UPI

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Frank Maloney, an assistant coach at Michigan the past six years, who was formally appointed head football coach at Syracuse University yesterday, vowed he would take the Orangemen to a bowl game in 1974.

Maloney, whose appointment had been a poorly kept secret for three weeks, told newsmen, "I am a winner. I have never been associated with a losing football team. I don't know how to be unsuccessful."

Maloney, who had been Michigan's defensive line coach, was given a four-year contract. He said he would start work immediately. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

He succeeds retiring coach Floyd (Ben) Schwartzwalder, who guided Syracuse from mediocrity to a national championship and Eastern domination in the late 50's and 60's, but who had watched the Orangemen slip in recent years.

"I like the position now," he said. "Last year was kind of a learning year — well, actually, I'm still learning even now."

This year was a learning year for Washington State as well. The Cougars learned not to schedule Kansas, Arizona State, Idaho, Ohio State, USC and UCLA in a six-game stretch (they were 1-5) and they learned ultimately that they were a pretty good football team as they finished 5-6 with a 52-26 thumping of arch-rival Washington.

Williams Leads New England To WHA Triumph

BOSTON (UPI) — Tom Williams scored a goal and an assist in the second period last night to give the New England Whalers a 4-2 win over the Jersey Knights in a World Hockey Association game.

Williams scored at 18:40 of the middle period for what proved to be the game-winner, after coming out from behind the net and sliding the puck past Knight goalie Jimmy McLeod.

Williams then set up a goal by Al Karlander only 15 seconds later, feeding him from inside the slot. Karlander lifted a shot up and over McLeod.

New England scored first at 2:59 of the opening frame when Tom Webster rebounded a slap shot by Brad Selwood. The Knights tied the game at 1:03 of the middle period when Brian Perry scored an unassisted goal after stealing the puck from a Whaler defenseman. Hugh Harris put New England in front, 2-1, at 11:01 of the period by tipping in a shot by Mike Byres.

Wooden Doesn't Expect 30-0 Mark

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Can UCLA's magnificent basketball machine make it three straight perfect 30-0 seasons?

John Wooden, the Bruins' architect, says it's not likely despite the awesome presence of Bill Walton for his senior year.

"I think it's just expecting too much," Wooden told the Southern California basketball writers yesterday.

"We have a fine team and any fine team has a chance of winning all its games. But I don't think you can come out and say you're going to do it.

"There are a lot of people who predict things. If they come true, they look pretty smart. If they don't come true, they never mention them anymore."

Led by the 6-11 Walton and 6-7 senior forward Keith Wilkes, the Bruins launch their season at home Friday and Saturday nights against Arkansas and Maryland, respectively.

Dave Meyers, a 6-7½ junior, will be Wooden's other starting forward Friday night while Tommy Curtis, a senior, is set to open at one guard and senior Greg Lee or junior Pete Tregovich will start at the other backcourt post.

Wooden was asked who would guard Maryland's high-scoring Tom McMillen Saturday night.

"I have a hunch that Keith Wilkes will be on him when he goes outside," said the UCLA coach, "and the redhead will be on him when he stays inside."

At 6-11, McMillen has four inches on Wilkes. "Couldn't he shoot over Wilkes?" Wooden was queried.

"If he gets the chance," he replied. "He has to get the ball first and Keith is rather adept with his hands and he's rather quick with his feet."

Wooden reported that Richard Washington, rated America's No. 1 high school basketball player of last season, was coming along slowly. The 6-9 forward-center from Portland, Ore., is a member of the Bruin varsity.

"We're well pleased with Richard," he said, "but I think many people sort of put him on the spot. He got a lot of acclaim and I feel that perhaps he was expected to be better than he really is.

"He's very good offensively now but he hasn't learned to work in well yet from a team offensive situation. His weakness at the present time is defensively. He also hasn't learned to go aggressively to the boards yet."

UCLA, which has won seven straight National Collegiate Athletic Association titles and nine in the past 10 years, will start its season one night earlier than Southern California.

The Trojans, who were runners-up to the Bruins in the Pacific-8 last season, launch their schedule at home against Arizona Saturday night.

it," he explained. Not a bad performance for a man who has been trying to get rid of a bad cold for two weeks.

JIM SNIADECKI, who has been improving at his new middle linebacker position with every game, was very satisfied with the play of the defensive unit. Quarterback for the defensive unit, Jim was happy about the responsibility handed him by Nolan for this game.

"This is the first game he (Nolan) has let me call all the defensive plays," said Sniadecki. "I've been getting help from the bench before, but this time he let me go all the way. I got tuned in to their quarterback and things worked out perfectly. We really played a good game, defensively.

"We're a much better team than we've shown. We had to do some soul searching. We had a lot of talking among ourselves."

Jim gives you the feeling that the 49er dark days are past. The 49er Faithful certainly hope so.

OHIO STATE THIRD

Alabama Grabs Poll Top Spot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alabama is the new No. 1 team in college football.

The Crimson Tide, shooting for its third national title since 1961 and the first since 1964, moved into the top spot after Ohio State, which had been No. 1 most of the season, was tied by Michigan.

The 10-0 Tide received 22 first-place votes from the United Press International board of coaches to outpoint second place Oklahoma, 330-299, while the Buckeyes fell to third following the tie with Michigan.

Alabama is now the team to beat for the national championship with only archrival Auburn left on the Crimson Tide's regular season schedule. In accordance with a decision of the American Football Coaches Association, UPI's national championship is based on regular season play only.

Oklahoma's 9-0-1 Sooners can close an unbeaten season this weekend with a victory over Oklahoma State. An NCAA probation bans coach Barry Switzer's team from postseason play.

Ohio State, which had replaced Southern California the second week of the season as the nation's top team, lost its No. 1 ranking in the tie with Michigan, but won the right to meet USC in the Rose Bowl in a vote of the conference athletic directors.

Notre Dame, which will play Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, moved ahead of Michigan into fourth place with 233 points. Michigan is fifth with 216 points.

Penn State completed a perfect 11-0 regular season with a 35-13 come-from-behind victory over the Fiesta Bowl-bound Pitt Panthers. The Nittany Lions face LSU in the Orange Bowl, hoping to duplicate victories there in 1968 and 1969, which also capped perfect seasons.

Southern Cal's 23-13 win over UCLA boosted the Trojans two places to seventh as LSU fell to eighth, followed in order by Texas and UCLA.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International's board of coaches major college football ratings with number of first place votes in parentheses:

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Excellent Results In Sturgeon Fishing

The sturgeon fishing has been excellent this past week. It's a big rain year, and the fresh water filling the Delta has forced these great fish to come into San Pablo Bay for food, and they have been hungry.

Starting last Wednesday (when tides were right) fishing out of Loch Lomond: Paul Stafani had a 64 pounder, George Alberigi a 35 pounder and Bruce Kline a 45 pounder. Thursday, Sam Crawford landed a 48 pounder.

Then on Friday, I saw 17 boats fishing near the Richmond Bridge. From these, Bill Yager took a 60, Martin Miller a 62, Art Donati a 78, Frank Sue a 70, George Simmonds a 24, Nick Rebola a 40 and Mike Rebola a 47. Todd Denton caught a 25-inch, six pounder — which is undersized — but Todd, 11, wanted me to know it was a good fighter. He, as a good sportsman, returned the fish to the bay waters. Boats fishing out of Frank Quan's China Camp, and boats fishing out of Buck's Landing had news much the same. The bullhead fishermen scored well on stripers too, some were reported up to 30 pounds. Fishing between the Pumphouse and the S.P. buoy seemed to be the hotspot.

WHEN I GOT home last Saturday evening, there was a six-pound package of sturgeon eggs from Frank Sue for me to cure for him. It was from his 70 pounder. He said he's having a New Year's party, and his wife, Jackie, wants to impress some friends with the six pounds of caviar.

Well, I worked it over, ate about a pound, then delivered half of it. Now you can't beat that! Caviar retails for about 25 dollars per pound these days. I'm even invited to the party. Have you got any roe you want fixed?

GETTING BACK to Keith Fraser, he has a problem. With his promoter's ability to sell those "Lord of the Sea" shirts (everyone of his students in the Santa Venetia Junior School wears one) and with his jet-tailed jigs selling like hotcakes, plus the high price of bait these days, Keith has bought a new boat — one of those super Skipjacks. His problem is what name to give the boat. He's been thinking of calling it either "His Lordship" or "The Taxbreak". Where he gets the name "The Taxbreak" provides one with food for thought! I'd bet he's the only person this week who has dared to buy a new boat with the fuel crises showing on the horizon. He has even come up with a slogan to sell shiners. It reads, "Nothing could be finer than a Loch Lomond shiner".

THE DUCK hunting picked up in the valleys with the northern freezes pushing the birds our way. Last Monday, at Tulelake, the word was that the birds were leaving enmasse. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday were good shoot days for most of the valley clubs. Russ Ild of Mill Valley came home with a limit of "bull" sprig, a duck hunter's dream.

Last Wednesday three of the Woodacre Fire House Gang, Marty Medin, Ben Selfridge and Clarence Nunes took my son Andy along on a hunt to their favorite spot at the Sacramento Wildlife Hunting Area. They got 21 ducks and one goose. The birds were sprig and widgeon with a few spoonies tossed in. They said they had a great day. The birds were in top shape. They were bubbling over with excitement when they arrived home.

I RECEIVED a letter from Tony Morris of Point Reyes Station stating that the hunters just lost about the last marshland in Marin County where they could hunt. He's referring to the new Tomales Bay Ecological area, plus six other parcels in the bay. He feels that the creeping cancer of bird sanctuaries will soon close all of the sports spots of the county. He believes that the local hunters will now have to travel hundreds of miles for a hunt at great cost. And with the fuel shortage, hunting may be out-entirely. He feels that the sportsmen should wake up; that now Drakes Estero Limantour Bay, Bolinas Bay, parts of Tomales and most of the shoreline of San Pablo Bay are now closed, plus Richardson's Bay. He feels a great loss for the kids of the community who can't take the long trips to hunt.

FOR THE KIDS who live in Bolinas and Stinson Beach, Sargeant Raymond von Savoy of the Marin County Sheriff's Office has applied for a Hunter-Safety Instructor's rating and will be teaching classes soon.

In San Geronimo Valley, Don Greer of the California Highway Patrol and Robert Taverna of the County Fire Department have also qualified as instructors. These fellows do the job for no pay as a community service. All of us should appreciate their efforts.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Golden State Warriors could tie a club record today at 5:30 p.m. by beating the Chicago Bulls for their seventh consecutive road victory.

The Warriors won games in Buffalo and Kansas City Nov. 3-4, and have taken four straight on the current trip which ends tonight.

The string was accomplished without the teams' best offensive rebounder, Clyde Lee, who has a knee injury that will sideline him another five or six weeks. The string also is surprising because it followed a home court loss to the lowly Philadelphia 76ers and included a game Rick Barry missed because of an ankle sprain. Barry is averaging 25.9 points in his last 10 games and has made 25 straight free throws.

The Bulls, 16-5 and 1½ games behind Milwaukee in the National Basketball Association's Central Division, are the best team in the league right now, according to Jeff Mullins of the Warriors. Mullins missed Saturday's satisfying 107-99 victory over the New York Knicks at Madison Square Garden because of a pulled muscle.

Jim Barnett, who sparked the victory over the Knicks with 24 points in 23 minutes, said he couldn't explain "why all this is happening," but then went on to add:

The Warriors, 12-6, were a game back of the Los Angeles Lakers in the western conference's Pacific Division.

11,931 NO-SHOWS FOR 49ERS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Last night's nationally televised National Football League game between the San Francisco 49ers and Green Bay Packers had an advance of 61,175 but only 49,244 actually sat in on the contest.

That left the game that was televised locally with a no-show total of 11,931.

Fish Tax

CHICAGO (UPI) — In the last 23 years, a federal tax on certain items of sports fishing tackle has provided $156.7 million to the states for improvement of their sports fishing areas. Distribution of funds is made according to a formula based on the number of fishing license holders and the area of each state, including coastal and Great Lakes waters.

COACH WANTS BOWL COMMITTEE

Michigan Suffers 'Great Wrong'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Coach Bo Schembechler, feeling his Michigan team suffered a "great wrong" in not being selected to go to the Rose Bowl, wants the authority to determine which team goes placed in the hands of the bowl committee.

He also charged in an emotion-laden speech yesterday that Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke "engineered" Ohio State's selection despite being tied 10-10 and outplayed for three quarters by Michigan in their battle of unbeatens last Saturday.

"Every bowl (except ours) is scouted," Schembechler said. "A football committee should select the team it wants to play in the Rose Bowl and if the Big Ten doesn't like it, it can dissolve the pact. The Rose Bowl should come out and get whoever they want.

"I want Wayne Duke to come and explain to my team why they aren't good enough to play in the Rose bowl," Schembechler said, his normally controlled voice breaking with emotion.

"I want him to tell Dennis Franklin that in his medical opinion, he cannot play," he said. "I want him to tell Larry Cipa —look him right in the eye —and tell him he's not good enough to quarterback my team in the Rose Bowl."

"I have been in contact with University of Michigan authorities regarding this matter," Duke replied from Chicago, "and will be in further contact with these authorities regarding the overall matter."

The Big Ten commissioner said Schembechler's feeling he "engineered" Ohio State into the Rose Bowl was "totally absurd."

"If he didn't engineer it, he at least influenced it by pointing out Franklin's injury," Schembechler said. "This is the first time he's ever been to a Michigan game that he didn't show up in the locker room. He didn't show up in the other one (Ohio State's), either."

The coach of the Wolverines, more distraught with the decision than he ever has been over the few football games he's lost, reiterated his belief the 6-4 vote's "biggest issue was Franklin. But there were others, petty things —and if not that, ignornace.

"George King (Purdue athletic director) hasn't seen an Ohio State football game in two years," he said. "A great wrong has been done to those kids, a great wrong.

"You know what's wrong with the younger generation?" Schembechler asked. "The way the older generation is scurrying around, looking out for themselves, I wouldn't trust them either."

The irate Michigan coach blasted Michigan State as one of the six schools that voted against him. Bump Elliott of Iowa, Bill Orwig of Indiana, Paul Giel of Minnesota, and of course Don Canham, were the athletic directors who voted for the Wolverines.

"Biggie Munn and Duffy Daugherty never would have voted for Ohio State," Schembechler said. "They're class guys who would have done what's right.

"What critieria do you want to use? First downs? Yardage gained?" Schembechler asked. "W e were ahead in all of them. Nothing I say has anything to do with Ohio State. They're a great team, we just outplayed them.

"If a quarterback is so important, why is a team going which admittedly doesn't have a passing attack?" Schembechler asked. "The right to go to the Rose Bowl is earned, not based on a medical report filed after the season is over.

"There would be no uproar if we were chosen 10-0, or even 6-4 —in fact, if it were 6-4, everyone would be wondering what those other four guys were thinking of when they voted," he said.

ABOUT HITTING ROAD

Raiders Aren't Unhappy

OAKLAND (AP) — After playing six of their first seven games on the road, the Oakland Raiders couldn't wait to get home, but now they're not unhappy to be leaving Oakland's Coliseum to play next Sunday at Houston. They say the Coliseum field is in terrible shape.

"The field's the worst I've seen," said George Blanda, who kicked a 34-year field goal and missed tries from 47 and 44 yards. "On the 44-yarder, I hit the ball as well as I can," Blanda said, "but the footing is just so bad . . ."

Linebacker Gerald Irons noted, "Our practice field is in better condition than the Coliseum where the Raiders slid through to a 31-3 victory over San Diego Sunday.

"Maybe getting off this field and giving it a little rest will be good for it," said coach John Madden. "It should be good getting back on the road again . . . even on AstroTurf."

Cornerback Willie Brown said it was "going to be fun," to play at Houston because in the Coliseum, "you just slip and slide out there."

In spite of the poor footing, the Raiders' defense had a good day and there were only two minor injuries — defensive linemen Otis Sistrunk and Tony Cline. Cline was hit on the head and Sistrunk had to leave the game after his ribs were bruised.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Fund Group Offers Variety Of Choices

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I now hold 183.4 shares of Fundamental Investors bought on a 180-payment plan started Dec. 1969. Deductions will amount to almost $900 of the $9,000 invested. Should I continue this plan for the full 15 years? — L.D.

Q. We have just completed the 120th payment for shares of Fundamental Investors. Our holdings are still not worth what has been invested. Should we go on holding? — M.N.

A. The plan under which questioner L.D. purchased her fund shares calls for payment of over 35 per cent of the sales fee in the first year of the contract. Thus with 47 payments completed, load and custodial fees have cost $431.50, reducing the amount actually invested by 18 per cent. Apparently reader M.N.'s shares were acquired in the same manner. Fundamental is a conservatively managed fund which stresses growth and income. Performance has been below average in relation to an index of all funds in the past five years. However, longer term record is good; the fund reports an 11 per cent annual growth rate over the last 40-year period.

With total assets close to $1 billion, the fund is among the largest in the industry, a factor which is cited as a deterrent to performance. Some 82 per cent of Fundamental's assets are invested in about 100 common stocks, representing a broad cross section of American industry. If this fund does not meet your investment objectives, shares may be exchanged for one of six others under the same management, such as Anchor Income, for a higher yield, or Anchor Venture, for faster growth.

Q. We wish to invest in tax-exempt bonds. Is it possible to get a return of 8 per cent with safety? — R.G.

A. Only if you are referring to a taxable equivalent yield. At the present time, medium-grade 30-year T/E's are yielding 5.5 per cent quality 20-year municipals 4.9 per cent. In a 32 per cent tax bracket these yields are equal to 8.1 per cent and 7.2 per cent, respectively. For a person in a 50 per cent bracket the taxable equivalent return is doubled, or 11 per cent and 9.8 per cent.

FRIED CHICKEN KING

'Colonel' Taking Japan By Storm

By NEIL A. MARTIN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

OSAKA, Japan — It's just before dawn. The rising sun has begun its westward trek across the morning sky when the Shinto priest, dressed in ceremonial robes, enters the red-and-white pagoda-shaped tent, chants a few prayers, picks up a shovel, and scoops out a spadeful of dirt.

Standing off to one side, dressed in a double-breasted dark suit and white shirt, and wearing a silk Western-style string tie is an American businessman. He watches every move the priest makes. It's his job.

The man is Loy Weston, vice president of Kentucky Fried Chicken (Japan), Ltd. The ceremony marks the ground-breaking of yet another link in the chain of KFC stores scattered across Japan in more than 15 cities.

KFC currently is Japan's largest fast-food company, with 75 outlets generating annual revenues of about $15 million. More than half these outlets are franchised operations, the rest company-owned.

According to Weston, the company expects to have a chain of some 300 to 400 stores by 1980. "Our acceptance has been much greater — and faster — than we ever anticipated," he beams.

Ever since he came to Japan to set up KFC's first pilot store at Osaka's Expo '70 three years ago, the boyish-faced Weston has parlayed his intimate knowledge of Japanese culture and tradition to the benefit of KFC and its parent, Heublein, Inc., the alcoholic beverages firm.

So successful has KFC been that the Japanese commonly refer to it as "tsuiteru kaisha" (the lucky company).

"KFC's buildings are shaped like pagodas, and our company colors are red and white — Japan's national colors — which stand for happiness," Weston says. And each ground-breaking for a new store is carefully attended by a Shinto priest.

Not the least of the reasons for KFC's success has been the food tastes of the Japanese. The restaurant business, though highly competitive, was booming when KFC first entered the market — and still is, for that matter. Some 320,000 restaurants, big and small, services more than 100 million persons.

Moreover, the growing appetite of Japanese for Western-style foods has sparked a rush to the Land of the Rising Sun by major United States and European fast-food franchisers, including McDonald's, Wimpy's, Dunkin Donuts, A&W, and Dairy Queen.

KFC, on the other hand, had another natural, built-in asset: The Japanese were big chicken-eaters. Until about 100 years ago, chicken was the only meat eaten in Japan by the Buddhist-oriented society, which viewed eating four-legged animals with disdain.

Also in KFC's favor: Its chickens were cooked similarly to tempura (deep-fried shrimp) and tasted something like "yakitori" (broiled chicken on a skewer), both highly popular in Japan.

A few months later, a joint venture company — Kentucky Fried Chicken (Japan), Ltd. — was formed with Mitsubishi Corporation, Japan's largest trading company, on a 50-50 basis.

Naturally, not everything has gone to schedule. Some initial start-up problems threatened its plans.

For its Expo trial KFC imported most of its chickens from the United States and Europe. It soon ran afoul — no pun intended — of Japanese customs inspectors who claimed the frozen birds had skin diseases.

The company got the message and switched to Japanese chickens. Besides, KFC's partner, Mitsubishi, was in the chicken and chicken-feed business, so why not team up with the trading company?

Still another problem was Japanese eating habits. "We discovered that the Japanese don't like mashed potatoes and gravy," Weston recalls. "We remedied that easily enough by substituting french fries, which they really like."

He has learned another important lesson: Location is more important to the success of a store than perhaps it is in the United States.

LOY WESTON
The 'Colonel' in Japan

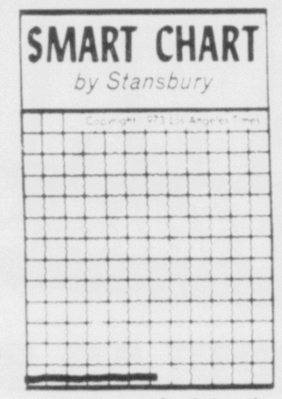
In the US, the fast-food franchisers have concentrated on the suburban drive-in location.

In Japan, where car ownership is still undeveloped and where the road and highway network nowhere approaches that of the United States, KFC and other food franchisers have had to concentrate on the busy, walk-in downtown locations.

Weston spent 16 years with IBM as a salesman before joining KFC to head up its Japanese operations in 1969. His success recently earned him a promotion: He is heading up KFC's expanion in other areas of the world (except Australia).

"Japan is still my prime area of responsibility," he says. But with an eye to the lurking giant to the west, he adds: "There are some 700 million chicken-eaters over there on the Chinese mainland. That's some market."

1973 The Christian Science Publishing Society



"Apparently friends and relatives don't constitute a big enough market."

Information

COPY ACCEPTANCE
The INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL reserves the right to edit, or withhold publication, and may exercise its discretion in acceptance or classification of any and all advertising.

DEADLINES
New ads, corrections, and cancellations must be made before 5:30 p.m. the day before publication, 1 p.m. Saturday for Monday and 24 hours before holidays. Suburban office deadline, 4:30 p.m. the day before publication.

ERRORS
We make every effort to avoid errors. But when hundreds of ads are handled daily, mistakes do slip through. We ask that you check your ad and call immediately if it is in error. We regret that we cannot be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion or for errors not clearly affecting the value of the ad, and are responsible only for that line or portion of the ad that appeared incorrectly.

5 MILES VERSUS $20,000

Are you willing to drive an extra 5 miles and save $20,000? The extra 5 miles will get you: A 2 story contemporary home done in knotty pine with cathedral beam ceilings, 3 bdrms., 2 baths, a family rm. and a den, a perfect in-law arrangement. A 16x32 pool with complete privacy. A home nestled in the hillside with a deck & a view of the Hills of Marin. A large lot with a lawn and a wide variety of fruit & evergreen trees. A pond with a Japanese footbridge. The difference in miles is small, the difference in price is enormous.

ROOMS TO ROAM

Take your kids, there are 5 bdrms., all large, and 3 baths in this 2 story home that is less than 10 years old. If you're less than 10 years old, there's room to roam, also, because this home is on a quiet cul-de-sac — no cars and stuff, you can walk to school, too. For Mom there is a large sunny kitchen, a separate formal dining room and private fenced rear yard. For Dad, in addition to the 2 car garage, there is a large workshop area. Roam to the Phone.

NOTICE OF CLASS ACTION

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that there is pending in the Superior Court of California for the County of Sutter, Class Action entitled Lee, et al, vs. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, Action No. 16920, being an action brought by persons insured under policies of State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, receiving payments for medical expenses. The nature of the action is to determine whether State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company is entitled to be fully paid by the injured party the amount of the medical payments received if the person to whom the medical payments are made recovers a judgment or settlement from another person because of their injuries giving rise to the payment of medical bills or expenses.
In this matter, the Court will be considering on the 19th day of March, 1974, at 10:00 a.m. of such day (or on such other day as may be announced at that time in Open Court), at the Courthouse, Yuba City, Sutter County, California, whether these claims and procedures therewith are proper. The Court will exclude any member from the class who so requests by February 15, 1974, and the judgment, whether favorable or not, will include all members who do not request exclusion by such date. Any member who does not request exclusion may, if he desires, enter an appearance through counsel by filing with the aforementioned Court, on or before February 15, 1974, appropriate legal documentation (in form pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure S437(c) in support of or in opposition to the issues before the Court.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday: Oxidants, clean air. Nitrogen, clean air. Carbon monoxide, light air pollution. Smoke particles, light air pollution.
Other areas:
San Francisco, no record.
San Jose, significant air pollution. Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Deposition Due From Haldeman

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A deposition will be taken next month from former presidential aide H. R. Haldeman in connection with a civil suit pending here, attorney George S. Daly Jr. said yesterday.

Haldeman is named along with the US Secret Service as a defendant in an $840,000 civil suit filed by 14 persons who say they were illegally denied entrance to a speech by President Nixon in 1971.

Daly said he plans to go to Los Angeles next month to take testimony from Haldeman.

Operations May Help Ex-Columnist See Again

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Labor columnist Victor Riesel, blinded 17 years ago when reputed mobsters threw sulfuric acid in his face, returned to work yesterday as a radio commentator after the second in a series of eye operations and said there was a good possibility he would regain some sight in his left eye.

The operations at the Columbia-Presbyterian Eye Institute involve removing scar tissue, rebuilding the eye socket with tissue from the lip and bone from the shin and then implanting an artificial cornea.

Riesel said his physicians will know how much sight will be restored after the third operation scheduled sometime this month or early next year, which will involve piercing the eye and allowing light into the lens.

Reisel was blinded as he walked out of a restaurant April 5, 1956, when a man stepped out of the shadows and threw acid across his forehead, eyes and nose.

At the time, Riesel wrote a column for the New York Daily Mirror and was syndicated in 192 other newspapers.

Escaped Convict Misses Buddies

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI) — It may not be true that you can't go home again but at the very least it's good advice for an escaped convict.

Robert Aden, a convicted burglar, escaped five weeks ago from the Mira Loma Detention Center's honor farm. He appeared at the center Sunday night, using a fictitious name, to visit an inmate friend. An alert deputy recognized Aden and quickly returned him to the other side of the bars.

Encouraging Fight On TV Violence

By FLORENCE MOUCKLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

BOSTON — The public outcry against television violence in the United States is not yet loud enough to change drastically programming.

Yet those fighting for some control over violence are encouraged by:

A recent precedent-shattering move in which station KTTV in Los Angeles agreed to eliminate some children's programs because of pressure brought by four citizen groups.

Action for Children's Television (ACT), one of those citizen groups, says: "We are beginning to find that parents, teachers, pediatricians, and psychiatrists are much more aware than they were before of the impact of TV on the lives of children and are beginning to think of ways of dealing with it."

Complaints being filed with the Federal Communications Commission against TV violence are growing.

Those groups fighting TV violence have no illusions about the giant industry they are confronting.

"TV is such a tremendous power," says Frank Orme, executive vice-president of the National Association for Better Broadcasting (NABB). "It's so one-sided. The industry can spend many millions of dollars on propaganda and it controls all of the outlets."

Nevertheless, Orme was encouraged by the "tremendous, worldwide response" that resulted from NABB's pressuring KTTV to change its children's programming.

This organization, along with ACT, the Mexican-American Political Association, and the San Fernando Valley Fair Housing Council joined together, and as a result the station agreed to ban 42 children's programs because of their violence content.

The station also agreed to broadcast cautionary messages to parents just before the airing of another 81 programs regarded as excessively violent.

ACT, along with NABB, is the only other pressure group that appears to have national clout.

The Senate subcommittee on communications, chaired by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-Rhode Island, which held hearings in March, 1972, on TV violence has recently received a progress report from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare about a TV "violence profile."

"Striking differences" were found between "heavy" and "light" TV viewers. "Heavy viewers are more likely in response to questioning to provide answers that reflect a television version of social reality. As compared to light viewers, heavy viewers believe the incidence or prevalence of crime or violence to be greater and they significantly overestimate their own chance of encountering violence in real life."

The Pastore committee will determine whether to reconvene hearings on TV violence.

Tanker Is Cited For Thick Smoke

ALAMEDA (UPI) — The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District has cited a Standard Oil Co. of California tanker for belching thick smoke for three hours.

The violation notice was served yesterday at the Todd Shipyards Corp. where the SS Chevron California is moored.

Roth Calls For Tax Law Change

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — William Matson Roth of Ross, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said yesterday his own income tax record is evidence of the need to reform tax laws.

Roth, a wealthy shipping executive, said he paid no federal income taxes from 1962 through 1965 and no state income tax for the year 1970.

In 1970 his gross adjusted income was $116,206. His deductions were $191,298.

"I paid no taxes in those years," Roth said, "because I took all of the lawful deductions available to me, including substantial contributions to charity."

He said since enactment of laws requiring a minimum income tax payment this is no longer possible.

Roth, whose principal holdings are in properties and securities, said, "The inequity in the tax system is to be found in the fact that a person in my income bracket and with my form of investments could, until recently, comply absolutely and still owe nothing in certain tax years."

Travel Record

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hughes Airwest reports that nearly 50,000 persons flew with the airline during the Thanksgiving holiday, shattering all previous records.

U.S. Asks Release Of Remaining POW

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has requested the immediate release of Emmett Kay, the only known American prisoner of war remaining in Indochina.

Kay, a legal resident of Honolulu, was a civilian pilot for Continental Air Services, Inc., and was captured in Laos in May, 1973.

On what it called "a routine mission," Kay landed on an unused air strip—either because he ran out of fuel or because of bad weather. The strip turned out to be under Communist control and Kay and six Laotian passengers were seized, the department said.

Cora Weiss, an American antiwar activist who has just retuned from a month in North and South Vietnam, said Kay was flying Thai mercenaries to a major base of the Central Intelligence Agency in Laos. Pentagon sources acknowledged Kay was transporting Thai or Laotian military personnel.

In a UPI interview, Mrs. Weiss said the Paris peace accords provided only for the release of those captured before the accords were negotiated. She also said Kay had written his wife Florence in Vientianne, Laos, that he is in good health.

The State Department requested the release of Kay and his passengers on an urgent basis under terms of the Laos protocol of Sept. 21, 1973, which requires all prisoners to be released.

Pentagon sources have said they are hopeful Kay will be released when the long-delayed coalition government is formed in Laos.

They believe that the Communist-backed Pathet Lao has confirmed Kay's capture to get the United States to pressure Prince Souvanna Phouma's government to make concessions to the Communists.

Leak Of Nuclear Waste Reported

RICHLAND, Wash. (UPI) — Solid radioactive waste clogged a pipe and caused a 7,000-gallon leak at the Hanford Atomic Reservation earlier this month, according to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

An AEC spokesman said radioactive salts clogged the underground pipe, forcing the highly radioactive liquid waste to back up and spew out through a vertical pipe.

No one was exposed to radioactivity by the Nov. 14 leak, the spokesman said, and the contaminated soil was buried in cement containers on the sprawling atomic facility.

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.
